Spirit of the Times

OFFICE 157 BROADWAY. NEW-YORK, SATURDAY, MARCH 18, 1837. VOL. VII. No. 5.

TO CORRESPONDENTS.

W. H. E., Esq., is informed that the pedigrees of his blood stock have been transmitted to W. J. STRATTON, Esq., publisher of the new Am. Stud Book, Washington City.

A long communication over the signature of "Breeders in North Carolina," will probably appear when we have room. The ruse attempted by the Postmaster at Bullock's P. O., Granville, N. C., in stating that the MSS. had been sent him from Hicksford, Va., to be forwarded to our address, will "not go down." The writer is, or was recently, a resident of Granville Co., and having read some odd thousand pages of his manuscript, we "speak by the book" when we give Sir P. N. E as the author of the article sent us. Its publication in its present shape will do him no service, we fear, and we cannot undertake to publish it at all, if we are not allowed to strike out several offensive passages which might embroil the writer and ourselves in a quarrel with a contemporary.

Another and more interesting "Letter from an American Turfman in England," will appear next week.

We purchased a Setter last week to our mind, for a Southern friend, of one of "the Fathers of the City," for $160, and shipped him by the steam packet Columbia to Charleston on Saturday last.

Lady Lightfoot's last foal—a bay filly—is by American Eclipse, now 3 yrs. old. She is owned by Chas. Henry Hall, Esq., of this city: her price is $5000.

The order for a superb Rifle, for a friend in Arkansas, has been received, and its manufacture will be completed in due season.

Decatur (owned by Samuel Neill, Esq. of this city,) is a chesnut, by Henry, out of Ostrich, —of course own brother to Tarquin.

Capt. Stockton's Dashall, by Sir Archy, out of Meg Dodds, was foaled in 1827, instead of 1825. See pedigree and produce of Meg Dodds on page 24 (March 4) of this paper. The compiler of the Stud Book will please revise her produce, and add. 1827, Dashall, by Sir Archy—1828, no colt—1829, b. f. by Trafalgar.

"Diabolus Ridens" is received; if it comes up to our expectations, we shall give our readers a taste of its quality.

A Western turfman thinks the dam of Caahoma was got by Potomac, and not by Oscar. Which is correct, Mr. HENDERSON?

We have before us the pedigree and performances of Black Heath. Will "any dear friend of Cæsar's" furnish us with his characteristics?

Amusements for the Week.

NATIONAL THEATRE--Late Italian Opera House.

TO THE PUBLIC.—Unexpected circumstances, since I joined a fellow citizen in the purchase of this property, have lately made it necessary for me to buy also the unexpired portion of a lease previously granted, and assume the future direction of the Theatre myself.

Thus precipitated, reluctantly, at this juncture, into a station of anxious responsibility, I can only pledge to the public what character, a long residence in this city, where I was born, may have gained for me, to use every effort to collect as speedily as possible such talent and novelty, from either side the Atlantic, as may render the performances themselves worthy of a Theatre, which, for the taste, elegance and liberality of its appointments, has been admitted to be unequalled by any similar establishment in our country.

In order to change the box-office to the corner of Leonard street, and render the lobby more commodious, and make some other alterations, the Theatre will remain closed until MONDAY next, 20th March, when it will be re-opened with a variety of entertainments, of which due notice will be given, which will be duly expressed in the bills of the day.

A CARD--AMERICAN THEATRE, BOWERY.

MR. GEORGE JONES has the honor most respectfully to inform the public that his Benefit will take place on Wednesday evening, March 22d, when will be presented Milman's celebrated tragedy of FAZIO: or THE ITALIAN WIFE.

In announcing to the public the revival of this highly-wrought production, Mr. Jones is well aware, that to sustain the difficult character of Bianca, requires talents of more than ordinary capacity; and especially in the estimation of the New York audience, who still retain a vivid remembrance of the debut of Miss Fanny Kemble in the same tragedy. Not wishing, however, for a moment, to institute any comparison, Mr. Jones has (by the advice of the first critics of the city, who have daily attended the rehearsals) been induced to select this tragedy, for the purpose of presenting to the notice of the public,

A LADY OF NEW YORK,

who will have the honor of making

HER FIRST APPEARANCE ON ANY STAGE,

in the character of Bianca; whereby, if successful, she may reap the harvest of her laborious studies; if not, the blame can only fall upon him, who has the confidence to hazard his own reputation, by thus presenting to an audience, this new candidate for public approbation.

Giraldi Fazio.. Mr. GEORGE JONES.

☞ Upon the above occasion the Free List will be entirely suspended, with the exception of the Editors of the Public Press, who are thus invited to attend, and whose criticisms on behalf of the debutante are most respectfully solicited.

N.B. The Box-Book is now open. [mh 18.]

MATCH, ANGORA vs. EXTIO.

A match race came off over the Pharsalia Course, Natchez, Miss., on Thursday, Jan. 24, 1837, $1000 a-side, two miles out.

Col. A. L. Bingaman's ch. m. Angora, by Leviathan, out of Patty Puff, 4 yrs. 97lbs... 1
T. J. Wells' ch. f. Extio, by Leviathan, out of White Feathers, 4 yrs. 97lbs......... 2
Time, 4:02.

LATE ARRIVAL.

By the arrival of the packet ship Virginian, from Liverpool, whence she sailed on the 8th, we have received copious files of papers to the latest dates. We have room but for a paragraph or two.

Mr. Forrest re-appeared at Drury-lane Theatre the evening of Feb. 6, on his return from the provinces; and, for the first time since the reduction of prices. To follow up this series of successes which characterises Drury Lane at present, the Manager has engaged Mr. and Mrs. Wood, who will shortly come forth.

Pedestrian Match between Townsend and Derby for $50 a-side.—This match came off the 6th Feb., and excited a considerable degree of interest among the patrons of the turf. The distance was rather more than 51 miles, each to make the best of his way without restriction as to pace, which was accomplished by Townsend in the extraordinary time of eight hours and thirty-five minutes, and could evidently have done the last seven miles within the hour.

CONTENTS OF THE SPIRIT OF THE TIMES.

The First number of the new volume, published on the 18th February, 1837, contained an Alphabetical List of AMERICAN WINNING HORSES, FOUR MILE HEATS, during the year 1836—Reports of Races—Matches—On Dits in Sporting Circles—Essays on Blood Stock—Pedigrees, etc., and a great variety of Sporting Intelligence, with—A Letter from MR. FORREST, the American Tragedian—A Confidential Letter from the Girls Up Town, etc. etc.

The Second number (25th Feb.) contained the Alphabetical List of American Winning Horses, THREE Mile Heats, with a great variety of Sporting, Theatrical, and Miscellaneous Intelligence.

The Third number (4th March) contained the Pedigrees, Characteristics, and Performances of "the cracks of the day," including John Bascombe, Post Boy, Mingo, Rodolph, and Linnet, with the usual variety of other reading matter.

The Fourth number (11th March) contains a complete Alphabetical List of Stallions for 1837—(consisting of 123 of the most distinguished)—with several communications from Breeders and Turfmen in different sections of the country, and other original articles.

Patent Safety Cab: or How to Do a Driver.

"This is what I call a cheap ride, and getting to Cheap-side in a very characteristic manner. The doctrines of Christianity teach us to do unto others as we would be done by. Now there is no doubt that this cab cove would do me if he could, and there is, therefore, nothing immoral in his being done himself. I like this safety patent which has the double advantage of saving thanks and saving our purses at the same time."

How oft we hear in London town,
Of worthless, deep, designing caitiffs,
Who earn a scandalous renown,
By base attempts to do the natives.

Yes, ev'n bold cabmen, seated high,
While the sly fare is seated under,
Are doomed to suffer in the cly,
By cruel artifice and plunder.

Drivers of cabs—that worthy class,
So famed for honesty and purity!—
Even in their safety cabs, alas!
Against such rogues have no security.

Fellows to bilking still inclined,
Still hatching mischief in their noddle;
Who, opening the cab door behind,
Softly step out, and homeward toddle;

Making Escape in famous style,
Of payment saving all the trouble;
While Whip is musing deep, the while,
How he can charge his inmate double.

"Blow me, I've had a famous ride,
And done the blockhead of a driver;
From Hyde-park Corner to Cheap-side,
And not to pay a single stiver!

"The honor of my company
Ought to make that 'ere cove contented.
Good luck to him, where'er he be,
Who patent safety cabs invented."

MORAL.

Ye cabmen brave of London town,
On whom such knavery has been planted,
Lest customers should do you brown,
Lock them inside till they are wanted.

Bell's Life in London.

MR. WEBSTER AND HIS ELOQUENT SPEECH.—The opportunities occur so seldom in our city calculated to elicit any thing like eloquence from those who may possess it, that we hailed the arrival of Mr. Webster as the city's guest with unfeigned pleasure. After the parade of his reception was over, and quiet again resumed her empire over the city, we repaired to Niblo's saloon, at six o'clock, where was afforded our citizens the richest treat of an intellectual kind that we have partaken of for years and years.

For two hours and forty-five minutes we stood on our feet, listening with more than five thousand others, to the most consummate and masterly display of the highest attribute of mortal man. The eloquence of Mr. Webster is so unlike that of any other man we ever saw, so convincing, yet so playful, so vivid, yet so solemn, that it came over us like a summer cloud. We are not famous for standing long in the same place, but we could have stood a fortnight listening to such enchanting displays of this mighty man. Mighty indeed he was on this occasion, as was evinced by the wrapt attention and breathless silence of so immense an auditory.

No Go!—The great Trotting Match, in Harness, for $1000 aside, that was to have come off on Thursday last between Columbus and Yankee Doodle, was "bursted up," as the loafers say. The track selected was the public Avenue, from Jones' Hotel, Harlem, to the city pavements. This fact gave umbrage to certain of the Corporation authorities, who threatened to "expunge" the parties making the match if it came off on the Avenue, "by drawing black lines round them," in the shape of iron bars in Bridewell. The odds were 100 to 40 on Columbus Wednesday evening. We have heard it asserted that Yankee Doodle was amiss, so that he would have paid forfeit, had there been no interference with the performance of the match.

PEDESTRIANISM.—We know of a chance for our Connecticut friend—STANNARD—that is, if he wants to run five miles against a man, a head shorter, and two stone lighter. Another match is on the tapis, and will come off so soon as a backer of Time can be found. A gentleman of this city will be backed for $1000, that he can walk One Thousand Miles in One Thousand Hours. Of course the 1000 miles are to be walked in 1000 successive hours. This match was performed by Capt. BARCLAY, some years since, which is the only instance on record, we believe.

☞ We have given up our editorial columns this week to our correspondents, whose favors accumulate upon our hands to such a degree, that we cannot any time publish an original number. We are almost disposed to "take the responsibility" of such an experiment, and publish an occasional paper, composed entirely of original contributions. Let us have "your most sweet voices," dear readers, on the subject.

FOREIGN SPORTING MAGAZINES.—We have just received from the Custom-House two large packages of English Sporting Magazines, including the Old and The New London Sporting Magazines; The London Sportsman and The British Farmer's Mag. from November to February inclusive. One package must have laid in the Custom House for nearly two months, though repeated inquiries have been made for it. They are rife with interesting matter to the breeder and turfman, and to the man of leisure, enterprise and spirit. We can assure our readers we have in store for them some most capital things. JACK JORROCKS, the Sporting tailor of Coram street, has written such a letter in The New Sporting Mag. to Nimrod; and then TOM HOOD has "gone his death" in describing the humors and scenes of "The Derby Day." "CRAVEN" has been visiting the breeding establishment of Mr. Thornhill, the Marquis of Westminster, and others,; and Deccan's "Life in the Jungle" is as capital as ever.—Nimrod is "cutting it fat" in Paris with Lord Harry Seymour, and, in fact, every number of each magazine seems teeming so with good things, that we hardly know which to publish first.

THE PIT.—The "Grand, Romantic, Operatic, and Tragical Spectacle" of a Rat Match will come off during next week, probably, the requisite number of the varmint—200—being nearly collected. The elite of the Fancy will be "tipped the office" when they are "all right."

RUSSELL, the most popular vocalist in the country, and a native, too, (but that's nothing to nobody,) is giving concerts in Boston. Before he returns to Albany, he should pay the New Yorkers a visit. We know dozens that want to hear him "most consumedly."

FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.

We have great pleasure in acknowledging the receipt of several long and interesting letters by the Havre packets, from JOHN BOARDMAN, Esq. of Alabama, now in Paris. His friends in this country will be so glad to hear from himself of his improved health, that no apology will be required, we trust, for laying before our readers the annexed extracts from one of his private letters, which contains a hint relative to postage upon American papers in France, that may also be useful to many of our contemporaries. We give in another column a capital letter of Mr. B.'s upon the subject of the English turf, (written before he left London) and are glad to say we have later and still more interesting ones in reserve.

PARIS, January 21, 1837.

DEAR PORTER,—I have received your letter of 16th November since I arrived in this metropolis, also a considerable number of Spirit of the Times'—though not regular files, for all of which I return you my best thanks. There is an American and English News Room where a great number of my countrymen resort, in Rue St. Augustin, at the office of the "Paris Advertiser," to which I would beg the favour of you to send the Times, where every body can see it. American papers &c. are forwarded to them by an agent at Havre, there is no postage on them; but the postage on one paper directed to me would amount to fifty cents or more.

I have really had so much to do since my arrival in Europe to contend in my enfeebled state, with the weather and my infirmities, that I have but little time left for my friends. I am occupied in taking care of myself, and I feel that my care has been highly beneficial. I think of you and the cause you are engaged in every day, but from indisposition, or what is worse, downright indolence and apathy, I can't muster resolution to put my ideas upon paper.

The article I send you now was commenced, as you see, after my first visit to Hampton court, and has remained in my portfolio ever since for want of energy to finish it: and now I despatch it to save the next packet in a very hurried and unfinished state; and must beg you to take my good will for the want of better deeds. At this moment I intend to write again by the next packet, and perhaps you had better not put this in type before you receive my next, but do as you like, [we followed our friend's instructions, and have since received other letters with assurances of his improving health,] and believe me,

Truly yours, &c.

Things Theatrical.

Park.—POWER, "dear, delightful Power," appeared on Monday, and has been drawing capital houses all the week, as he no doubt will throughout his engagement. He is to be succeeded by Miss ELLEN TREE, now in Boston. Madame AUGUSTA's benefit on Wednesday was the signal for a general rush to the box office; the places were all taken before the doors were opened, and when the curtain drew up, Old Drury was crowded from base to dome. The lovely beneficiare never appeared to greater advantage, and the enthusiasm of the audience was manifested by showers of wreaths and other tokens of admiration, that must have been highly gratifying to her feelings.

Bowery.—The grand spectacle of Mazeppa is announced for another week, and is to be produced with WILLIAM SEFTON in the principal character, and several other material improvements. On Wednesday Mr. G. JONES claims the patronage of his friends and the public, (as will be seen from his Card in its proper place), when a Young Lady of this city will make her debut as Bianca. From a familiar acquaintance with her histrionic talent and accomplishments—her fine figure and intellectual features, and the judicious course of study she has long pursued, we confess to have little fear of her complete success; and we accordingly invite the real friends of the drama and its best interests, to turn out on this occasion en masse. Jones deserves a bumper, and the fair unknown a most cordial greeting.

National.—Mr. HACKETT, the new manager, with WILLARD as his aid-de-camp will open the National on Monday next; Mr. Cooke's equestrian company, with his splendid stud of horses, are engaged, and will appear on Monday week. Great improvements have been made in the house during the recess.—In all probability we shall have Mrs. SHARPE as the leading feature in tragedy at this house. We are glad to see her "on the pavé of fashion" daily, looking in fine health and spirits.

L. F. THOMAS, Esq., junior editor of the Cincinnati Evening Post, has been writing a new drama, which he entitles "Oceola," that his Western contemporaries pronounce a very successful effort. Several of the soliloquies are said to be eminently beautiful, and the piece is on the eve of being produced at Louisville and New Orleans. A letter received from a Louisiana friend by a gentleman in Louisville, contains the following paragraph:—

"I saw Caldwell in New Orleans a few days ago, and he was perusing Oceola, and spoke of it in unmeasured terms of praise—prophesying its entire and triumphant success."

Are we to have a pantomime in Gotham? A good one would be a novelty indeed, and now an opportunity is afforded, let the managers treat their patrons to something original. There came passengers in the Portsmouth, arrived last week from Liverpool, Mr. WALBOURN, the original "Dusty Bob," clown and comic dancer, from the Covent Garden and Adelphi Theatres, London, and Messrs. DAVIES and TAYLOR, the Harlequin and Pantaloon, from the London, Manchester, and Liverpool Theatres.

Mrs. GIBBS has made a great impression in Philadelphia, say the critics, who there gave a fair chance to succeed, while here one was denied her by a number of the press-gang, who forestalled public opinion in a measure, by damning her with faint praise, or decrying her vocal abilities, before she had sung a bar. At her benefit at the Park on Friday week, nearly all her songs were encored, (and she appeared in two pieces), while the grace and spirit of her acting repeatedly brought down the house. She is engaged by Mr. Maywood.

Mrs. McLEAN has just returned from the South, where she has been fulfilling very flattering engagements.

HILL, (Yankee Hill), writes us from London, of his success and of the kindness shown him. He was playing at two theatres on the same night at the time of writing us (Jan. 19th). Extracts from late London papers on another page prove to us that John Bull has been hit hard by Hill's Yankeeisms and originality.

Franklin.—[The following paragraphs, from a correspondent, were crowded out last week.] Mr. C. HOWARD, (late of the National,) took a benefit at this house on Friday of last week. The house truly, in numbers, was not what we could have wished; but we did observe, and we think it highly complimentary to Mr. H., that nearly all the prominent members of the Park company were present, a thing very unusual, and quite worthy of remark, as a proof of the very respectable standing which Mr. H. maintains among the members of his own profession. The first piece—"The Field of the Forty Footsteps," was murdered in a manner quite striking and original, consequent upon the non-attendance at rehearsal of one or two of the principal characters, who excused themselves by saying that they were "quite perfect."

A recitation of Drake's "American Flag" was delivered by a new candidate for New York popularity—Mr. HOWE—in a very elegant and gentlemanly, though hardly dramatic, style; and the remainder of the performance was very well conducted.

We cannot pass without notice Miss Anderson's very fine performance of Julia Snooks, in the farce of "My Fellow Clerk," which drew applause unbounded from the strong professional representation there present. G.

LETTER FROM AN AMERICAN TURFMAN IN ENGLAND.

His Majesty's Stud—System of Breeding at present in vogue—Hampton Court Establishment—Treatment of Colts—The English and American System of Training compared.

LONDON, 2d January, 1837.

MR. W. T. PORTER, Editor of the NEW YORK SPIRIT OF THE TIMES.

SIR,—The King of England's Breeding Stud at Hampton Court is, without doubt, the best in the world; and whether we consider the object, the extent, the excellence of the stock, or the admirable system and police in every department, it is equally creditable to his Majesty, and beneficial to the nation. This is not, as many suppose, a public establishment, supported by Government, but is altogether a private concern of King William, maintained from his private purse, and the emoluments arising from sales, &c., at his individual disposal. Some of his predecessors have kept up extensive training stables, and have been regular turfites; but the policy of the present King is to breed, for the purpose of perpetuating, and if possible, of improving the stock of Race horses: and for this purpose, the most ample and perfect preparations have been made for a large number of mares and foals. The foals are all sold, when one year old, at public auction, for whatever they will bring, without any reservation or qualification, or by bidding, whatever. To ensure fair prices, the character and quality of the animals thus offered are alone relied upon. No expense is spared in selecting and obtaining the very best horses and mares for breeders, and in making that selection, regard is had as well to the soundness, the constitution, and freedom from all hereditary disease, or outward blemishes, as also to form, pedigree, and performance; so that none with any known fault, (except as to form, which is always a matter of opinion,) can be found in this princely establishment. The King is said to be quite attached to the stud, visits it often enough to become well acquainted with each of the numerous animals, and has a scrutinizing eye to their treatment, condition, and accommodations. During the current year, large additions have been made to the stock, both foreign and native. Among the former are two stallions, two mares, and one colt-foal of the purest and best Arabians, said to have been obtained at a very great expense, and after a long and persevering negociation. The black horse and the colt, a chesnut, I should think the most valuable of the lot, though the whole no doubt will prove a valuable acquisition to the country at some future time, if the proper means are employed, during a series of generations, in improving the size of the progeny.

It is quite funny to compare these tiny exotics with the English descendants from the same parent stock in the adjoining enclosures. The English race horse of the present day is in fact an artificial animal, bred almost expressly for 2 and 3 year old efforts, and bearing but little more resemblance of the original specimen than a high pressure locomotive does to a donkey cart. Nor is it matter of surprise that such should be the case, when we consider the means adopted and systematically pursued from generation to generation to produce this result. Some 40 or 50 years ago, (I may not be accurate as to dates,) a new order of things came into vogue with the English sportsmen, viz., short races of single heats, designed principally for early trials of the young ones. Sir CHARLES BUNBURY, an extensive breeder, and a veteran of the turf, has the credit of being the founder and great patron of this school, and so prevalent have these practices become, that at the present day you scarcely ever hear of 4 mile heats on the English turf. Indeed, on many of the most popular courses, no heats of any distance are run. The richest purses, the heaviest and most numerous engagements are confined to 2 and 3 year olds, and it is the exhibition of these young things that produces the principal excitement and the greatest attraction of the racing public. Were it not for these, this great national pastime would be a vapid, humdrum concern in England, and racing, for all its most important purposes would become comparatively insignificant. Yet there is but little public money or valuable prizes open to the exclusive competition of young ones; but on the contrary, most of the plates and cups, and King's guineas are reserved for the veterans, at long distances and heavy weights. But such is the variety and number of stakes adapted to every quality and degree of the blood horse, with engagements corresponding in amount with the nature of the race, that almost every breeder is induced to enter his promising colts for some of these stakes; and the facilities which Newmarket affords for public training is an additional inducement to have his colts tried. Therefore, so soon as a foal is dropped, he is destined to become a competitor for some of these prizes, and is reared with a single eye to that event.

At Hampton Court there is a great number of paddocks, (small lots,) of 2½ to 6 acres, with a stable and small paved yard in the corner. The stables, (or rather loose boxes, as they are termed,) are quite plain and unpretending in outer appearance, are built of brick, 12 or 14 feet square, for the mare and foal, with another apartment for the feed. There is a stone trough in the yard for water, which I believe is mostly supplied from wells. Where more than one mare and foal are in the same paddock, there are two boxes, yards, &c. The ground is fertile, and the grass abundant, and to prevent it from becoming coarse and rank, it is from time to time fed off by horned cattle. Yet the turf is covered with a thick and soft cushion, better adapted to fatten cloven-footed beasts than to harden the hoofs of colts. The very best hay and oats are supplied in the greatest abundance, and the foals are encouraged to feed upon oats as early as possible, which at first are crushed for their use, but they soon learn to masticate it entire. With an abundance of such feed, with shelter, and a warm room in bad weather, and every necessary attention to their health and comfort, they are literally forced up to the size of horses in 12 to 15 months, many of them being full 15 hands high, when they are offered at public sale, without limit or reserve, in April or May.

All yearlings engaged in the two or three year old stakes are thus brought forward to early maturity, and in the fall are put into the hands of the trainer to be handled and broke, and learnt to follow the other horses in their exercises, and by degrees brought into real work for their own account. Now, if their precocious size and bulk had been obtained by means of grass and chaff, it would melt away in their work, like a bank of snow before the rays of the sun, and nothing would be left but a meagre carcase, on a weak and unsubstantial frame; and however excellent his blood, form, and constitution, yet without the strength and substance which the best corn can alone give, he will be utterly unable at that early period to contend successfully in the race, and perhaps on the first trial will be condemned to the hammer as worthless. Everything depends on making a good start; if a late foal, or it is anywise amiss to prevent its healthy and vigorous growth the first year, it seldom recovers sufficiently to become formidable afterwards, andthe expense of keep, grooming, training, &c., is so great in England, that the racing owner of all similarly situated is ready to dispose of them for whatever they will fetch, and all merely because they are unfit for the two and three year old stakes, as though their running at that age was the sole object of breeding the blood horse. Such as are able to stand their work satisfactorily, are regularly trained through the Winter and Spring they are two year old, to prepare them for their Summer and Fall engagements.

And here I must remark, (without pretending to decide,) a striking difference prevails between the English and American mode of training, both for short and long distances. Perhaps a reason may be assigned in the difference of weight, if so, the utility of the argument is on the side of the English. They generally take up a yearling in September, which is to make his appearance the ensuing Summer and Fall, they feed him high during the whole course of training, upon the most nutritious and stimulating food, and give him all the work he can bear without impairing his health, or destroying his appetite, with a heavy man on his back, taking long gallops upon gently ascending ground, for miles in extent, so that in fact the young 'un, before his 3d year, has undergone in private the work of an American veteran, considering weight and distance. The flesh of such a colt, which has the power of properly digesting such food, and the constitution to endure such work, becomes converted into muscle and sinew, giving him strength and substance. When thus worked up to his capability of endurance, he cannot be expected to increase much in size, and indeed, that would be looked upon as a suspicious circumstance. The longer they are kept up, (like a bent bow,) the more rigid and obdurate the muscles and members become, and one might suppose the less fit for the breeding stud at a future day. Out of a vast number thus bred and educated, but few ever attain great distinction upon the turf; and if on trial they fail there, they are rendered less valuable to the breeder, as such overfeeding and overworking must have an injurious effect upon the constitution, at least, until after years of relaxation, when they may partially recover. But in selecting for the breeding stud, especially fillies, everything else being equal, I would prefer one that had not been forced by unusual means in her early years, nor worked too severely at a tender age. She should, however, have had a plentiful supply of good food, to preserve due form and proportions, as well as to establish her health and ensure her growth, and in her third year should be moderately exercised. Such a one would be either fit for the turf or the breeding stud at 4 years old.

Now it is not an unusual thing in America to see "bits o' blood" reared without much care until the Spring they are three year old, then handled and broke to the saddle by a lad for a few weeks, turned out to grass again till August, when they are taken up, physicked, sweated, and starved poor, and regularly trained for two mile heats in October. Brother Jonathan, accustomed to this short preparation for a long day, ridicules John Bull's tedious and expensive training of a year and a day, to put a colt in condition for the T. Y. C.—[Two Year Old Course.] Keeping out of view the important fact that this colt takes up nearly as high weight (118 lbs.) as an aged horse in America: and if John Bull inquires how you give a horse power to last 2 or 3 mile heats, with 2 or 3 months' preparation, he is gravely told we don't require power, but speed, as he has but light weight to carry, and we sweat and starve him into condition. It is well known that many American trainers do not regulate the work by the feed, but work violently, sweat severely, and feed low, and that, too, without regard to the appetite, that their horse may have the appearance of being in condition for a mighty effort, when in truth he is weakened and impoverished by this unnatural process. We often hear Americans, accustomed to see horses declared to be in proper form and condition, exclaim against the high and full appearance of the English horses, supposing it to be the length of the course, and the absence of heats which makes the difference in the preparation. But if these casual observers were accustomed to the feel of horses brought to the starting post, the instant they put their hands upon an English horse that appears fat enough for an every day saddle hack, he would discover what appeared to be flesh, was as hard and firm as iron in his grasp, that the fullness and bulk was, in fact, muscle and sinew, imparting strength, and power, and endurance to the machine which it enveloped.

The subject of improving, breeding, and training the blood horse is of too complicated a character to be properly discussed in occasional correspondence but at a favorable season I will return to it, and give you the crude reflections I have entertained on these matters, leaving it to your better judgment whether they are worthy of being presented to your readers. Yours, &c., B.

DEVIL'S FORK, OF LITTLE RED RIVER, (Ark) Feb. 14, 1837.

Dear Mr. Editor,—Excuse my familiarity, for you must know us chaps on the Devil's Fort, dont stand on ceremony; well, week before last, daddy sent me down to the Land Office, at Batesville, with a cool hundred shiners, to enter a piece of land—I tell you, it took all sorts of raking and scraping to raise the hundred. 'Squire Smith let him have forty, but he would'nt have done it, but for a monstrous hankering he has, after sister Sal. Dad has got right smart paper money, but the great folks at Washington have got so proud they turn up their noses at the best sort of paper now-a-days. While I was at Batesville, I saw your paper, and the way I did love to read it, was nobody's business. Captain —— lent them to me every day, and I just made up my mind, that no matter what Daddy said, I would take it myself.

I just wish you could come to the Devil's Fork. The way I would show you fun, for I have got the best pack of bear dogs, the closest shooting rifle, the fastest swimming horse, and perhaps, the prettiest sister you ever did see. Why, those fellows on the Raccoon Fork of the War Eagle, ain't a priming to us boys of the Devil's Fork. They aint monstrous friendly to us, ever since I laid out Warping Bars, with the Bussing Coon. I tell you, we used them up that hunt—red headed Jim Cole drove home twenty-four of the likeliest sort of cows and calves, and Bill Spence walked into a fellow for three good chunks of horses.

I'll tell you how that race was made. Monday evening of the election, I was standing talking to Squire Woods—we were just outside of the Doggery, when I heard some body cavorting—I stepped right in—There stood big Dan Looney the Raccoon Fork Bully. I said nothing, but stopped right still—Says Dan, "I say it publicly and above board, the Warping Bars can beat any nag from the Gulf of Mexico to the Rocky Mountains, that is now living and above ground, that drinks the waters of the Devil's Fork, one quarter of a mile with any weight, from a gutted snow bird to a stack of fodder!"

Before I had time to say a word after Dan got through, in jumped Jim Cole—Says he, "Dan, the Bussing Coon can slam the Warping Bars this day three weeks, one quarter of a mile, with little Bill Allen's weight on each; for fifty dollars in cash, and two hundred in the best sort of truck."

"It is wedding," said Dan, "and give us your hand."

They shook hands and agreed to put up two good horses as forfeits. No sooner was the race made, than the boys commenced drinking and shouting. Dan said Jim Cole owed a treat—Jim Cole said Dan owed a treat. They agreed to leave it to Squire Woods; now Squire Woods is up to snuff and makes no more of belting a quart, than a methodist preacher would of eating a whole chicken, so says he, "boys, taking all things into consideration, I think it but fair that both should treat to a gallon, and sugar enough to sweeten it." "Hurrah for 'Squire Woods," roared every chap except Dan and Jim.

It did'nt take more than twenty minutes to make some of them feel their keeping. I knew what was coming, and you may depend I kept my eye skinned.—Dan soon became uproarious, and made out he was a heap drunker than he was—After a little while he could'nt hold in—Says he, "I can pick the ticks off of any of you hell-fire boys," (meaning the Devil's Fork chaps)—the words were hardly out of his mouth before Jim Cole cried out, "you are a liar, Dan," and cherow he took him just above the butt of the ear—Dan reeled, and 'ere he recovered, several persons rushed between them.—"Come boys," says one, "there is Squire Woods, and have some respect for him." "Damn Squire Woods," says Dan, "a Squire is no more than any other man in a fight!"

The physic was working—there was no chance to control it—coats were shed—hats flung off—shirt collars unbuttoned—but one thing was needed to bring about a general fight—that soon happened, for Bill Spence jumped right upon the table and shouted "hurrah for the Devil's Fork!" Dan answered him by yelling "go it my Coons"—the Doggery was on about half way ground, and the two settlements were about equally represented. The fight commenced—I tell you there was no time to swap knives—I pitched into Dan—'twas just like two studs kicking—we had it so good and so good for a long time—at last Dan was using me up, when Squire Woods (who had got through whipping his man) slipped up and legged for me, and I rather think gave Dan a slight kick—Dan sung out and the Devil's Fork triumphed.

I reckon there were all sorts of 4th July's cut over the fellows' eyes—and bit noses and fingers were plenty. We started home just about dark, singing Ingen all the way. I did'nt want Daddy to see me that night, so I slipped to the stable loft—next morning I started out bear hunting, the particulars of which I will write you some of these times. Ever yours,

PETER WHETSTONE.

CAN A SWEEPSTAKES RACE BE POSTPONED?

RICHMOND, (Va.) 8th March, 1837.

SIR,—I wish information on the following subject, and as it is one in which all breeders as well as racers are deeply interested, I ask it through the columns of your valuable and interesting paper.

A sweepstakes for 3 year olds is opened, to be run over a regular established race course at the spring meeting, 1837. Now the spring meetings at this course have always commenced the 1st Tuesday in May. This has been the case for years. The sweepstakes is made up and has 29 subscribers. The proprietor of said course, a month or two before said sweepstakes is to be run, determines to change the time of running said stake, and asks the consent of the subscribers, some of whom consent to the change, and others positively object.—Quere—Has the proprietor the right to make such change?—[No.]—and will not a subscriber or subscribers who produce their entries on the day appointed in the caption of such stake, and run for said sweepstakes, be entitled to the amount subscribed?—[Yes.]

I ask this information, because it is important that there should be fixed and permanent rules to govern sweepstakes. If proprietors have this right, persons will be loth to enter into sweepstakes, as they cannot know when they will be run. Let me suppose a case, which I think, will show the injustice of this! I have a 3 year old which I think highly of. I enter it in a stake to be run at Fairfield, the Spring meeting, 1837. This commences always the last Tuesday in April, entrance $500; to which there are 10 subscribers. I determine to enter it also at New Market or Tree Hill in another stake, same terms, same number of subscribers. These meetings have always taken place the 1st or 2d Tuesday in May. There is a sufficient interval for my 3 year old to recover from its first race. A short time before the meeting, the proprietor of the New Market or Tree Hill course, fixes upon the week of the Fairfield meeting as the time for running the stake at that course! What course is left me? I cannot run at both places the same day, and I wish to run in both stakes. I may win one or both. I am induced to subscribe to both, that I may have this advantage. Can you not throw light on this subject? What is the English rule as to the running of sweepstakes?—[See Answer.]

There are upwards of 100 horses in training within 40 miles of this place.—All the stables are in full blast.

Poor Henry is dead, as you know. His loss will be severely felt by us. He would have made a very large season, and for the first time as a stallion, would have had full justice done him in the way of mares.

Andrew has been bought since Henry's death, and will be at Newmarket in a few days—half of him cost $7000. We will adhere to our own well tried and approved old Sir Archy stock: the best, I believe, in the world. The imported stallions also, receive much encouragement. We are willing to try the experiment—a short time will solve the problem as to which is best. From experiments made with imported colts, for many have been imported and trained, I do not think much can be said in their favor, except for speed—a hard tug tells awfully upon them. Yours respectfully, A BREEDER.

ANSWER.

When a particular day is specified in the caption of the Sweepstakes, upon which the race shall be run, the Proprietor has no power to change the day of running under any circumstances, without first obtaining the consent of each and every subscriber to such Stake.

When the caption of a Sweepstakes is to the effect, that the race shall come off, at (or during) a designated meeting of the Club or Association, the appointment of the particular days of running being left at the discretion of the Proprietor, he has power to fix the precise day during the meeting when the race shall be run, but he has no power to designate a day before or after [or not included within] the regular meeting.

The regular annual meeting or meetings of a Club, governed by Rules, or By-Laws, appointing particular days when the annual races shall commence, cannot be postponed or anticipated by the Proprietor of the course, nor can the time of the meeting be changed except by a vote of the Club, at a regular meeting duly convened. Neither the Club nor the Proprietor have power to alter the time of running of a Sweepstakes race without the unanimous consent of its subscribers, even should the time of the regular Club meeting by them be changed.

When subscribers to a Sweepstakes do not designate in the articles signed, the precise day upon which the race shall be run, merely providing that it shall come off at such or such a meeting, and leaving the particular day to be appointed by the Club or the Proprietor, they have no further control over the matter, and the Club or the Proprietor may appoint such a time for the annual meeting to commence as they may think proper, under whatever impression the stake may have been subscribed to by the parties concerned.

The English Laws of Racing, (published entire in the Spirit of the Times of May 28, 1836, page 115,) are not so explicit upon this point as we could wish. [See Rule 21]. The 31st clause of the "Rules and Orders relative to Sweepstakes" is to this effect:—

31. If a Match or Sweepstakes be made for any particular day in any race-week, and the parties agree to change the day to any other in the same week, all bets must stand; but if the parties agree to run the race in a different week, all bets made before the alteration shall be void."

To prevent the recurrence of such cases as the one alluded to by our correspondent—where under the impression that the Newmarket meeting would come off the week following after that at Tree Hill, the same nomination had been made in a Sweepstakes to be run over both courses—the particular day when the race shall be run must be designated in the caption or terms of the race, as otherwise a subscriber constantly runs the hazard of being obliged to pay forfeit in one or the other stake, from the simple fact that circumstances may induce the Club or Proprietor of either course to change the time of the meeting, in which case he has no redress.—EDITOR Spirit of the Times.

THE LAST SPORTING EPISTLE FROM ARKANSAS.

BATESVILLE, Ark., Feb. 10, 1837.

Dear P.—I know not whether to vent my spleen upon Amos or some of his contractors. Between them, however, we have no Spirit of the Times later than December 24th, or Turf Register since the November number. If some of the Post-office surplus that Amos brags about was properly expended in this quarter, there never would be any just cause for a failure of the mail. But to hope for such a thing is ridiculous. The Post-office Department is so much "out of condition," that it will take a master trainer ever to get it again in "order."

What is the coming Spring to bring forth? [Frogs and June bugs.] Another Bascombe perhaps—or may be a Fanny Wyatt? [Nous verrons.] Rodolph and Bascombe—will they ever come together?—[No.]—if they do, and Linnet takes a chance with them, the betting will be immense. [On which?] How comes on Post Boy? [Finely.] Will Richard ever be himself again? ['Tis thought so by the knowing ones.] I hope he will. His last defeats have not lessened him in my estimation—I still view him as one of the best race horses living.

Industry and Star were great losses to the people of Virginia—they had so recently earned the appellation of "Tried Stallions," as to make it (much to be feared) possible, but few choice mares were put to them. The Importing fever still rages. So long as the same judgment is displayed in selecting horses as has been heretofore, we have nothing to regret, but it should be on the other hand, a matter of much rejoicing. To what number of mares is Priam limited?—[All he can get, we presume.]—and at what figure does he pay his addresses? [Only $150!]

I think the finest horse in England at the present day (of course I mean untried stallions) is Touchstone. [Won't you except Plenipo'?] His racing career has been splendidly brilliant. He won the St. Leger against a most splendid field—a better one by far than has started since.

What of Cetus, purchased by Mr. CORBIN, of Sir Mark Wood? [His friends think highly of him.] When did he figure? I ask these questions not to disparage the horse, but for information, as I have no foreign magazines to refer to. [Please direct a Richmond Whig, Mr. C, "to the best fellow in the world," and the "smartest" man in Arkansas, and "N." will see what Cetus has done.]

Before closing, let me recommend to all lovers of dogs (not biped) the following recipe for that filthy and destructive disease—the mange: Take spirits of turpentine, and apply it on the skin freely, and it will cause an immediate cure.

Truly yours, N.

NEW ORLEANS DUEL ON HORSEBACK.

New Orleans, 26th February, 1837.

Dear P.,—Our Spirit of the Times was to be sent from and after the 1st of November. We have as yet received but five numbers. I mention this to show you the irregularity of the newspaper mail, but it cannot be wondered at when we see the total derangement in every branch of that department. Mr. Oliver suggests the plan of your sending all your papers for the south in one package by the packet to Charleston, where, if distributed promptly, they will come direct; but I suppose the present route many of the paper mails are left to make room for the heavy lettermails on the same route. [The steam packet made her first trip last Saturday, by which the Spirit of the Times was sent to all its subscribers in the Carolinas, Georgia, Alabama, Louisiana, Florida, etc., as it will continue to be forwarded when opportunity offers.]

Have you lately heard from N. since his bear breakfast? His productions are really laughable, and are eagerly looked for by every reader of the Spirit of the Times.

Have you heard of the duel here? Oliver's saddle horse was killed, that's all. Shamburg was challenged, and accepted, to fight on horseback with broadswords. Shamburg loaned Oliver's fine saddle horse. On the second round, after a few strokes at each other, one of which struck the horse on the ear, who immediately bled to death, the parties were separated, but I believe the quarrel is not made up. [See paragraph below.]

Great preparations are making for the races. I have not yet seen the track, but all who have, represent it as superior to any thing as yet seen in this country—the purses are very large. Mr. Wells' will be here with his stable; Starke is now here, and after the Mississippi races are over, many others will be "on hand."

Glencoe is at the Forks of Cypress, Alabama; those who have seen him since he got there, speak in the very highest terms of him. Accept my best respects and wishes for your health and prosperity. Respectfully and truly yours, &c.

P. S. Don't put me into the papers.—[Oh no!]

A correspondent of the Courier and Enquirer of this city, gives the following details of the duel referred to by our New Orleans friend. We commisserate the fate of our friend's horse, which Captain O. described to us last summer as a splendid animal:—

Yesterday, a duel was fought in this city between Captain Shamburg and Mr. Cuvillier. The quarrel originated in a ball room, some weeks since, between the former and a brother of the latter. They passed on the Levee next day.—Cuvillier accosted Shamburg in a manner he believed to be insulting. Some hostile motion being mutually made by the parties, Shamburg drew a sword-cane, and run it in the arm of Cuvillier; whereupon the latter discharged two pistols at the former, without effect. Here the matter rested for some days, save that Shamburg underwent a kind of trial, and was discharged. The brother of the wounded Cuvillier took up the quarrel, and challenged Shamburg, and the meeting took place yesterday, with broadswords, on horseback. They paraded at the proper hour, on fine looking geldings, armed with swords took their position—and awaited like knights of old, the word to be given for combat. The result was, that after some close cutting and thrusting, Shamburg had his hat cleft in twain, and his horse killed under him; and Cuvillier had a division made of his clothing across his whole front, leaving it is said, a slight flesh wound; and here the affair terminated. While the high mettle of southern blood keeps up, I do not see how duelling is to be prevented. The duel was at a public place, and from the mode of fighting, a large number of persons were drawn to the spot to witness the combat.

To-day is Sunday, and as usual, the place is full of military parade; and, by a strange arrangement, this day, the 25th, is set apart for the military honours due to the 22d, which came past on Wednesday last, and was then celebrated by splendid balls. To-day, the military intend to honour it by parade and firing. Pursuant to this arrangement, 25 rounds of cannon were fired at the "Place d'Arms," this morning at daylight, and the military corps are all in lively activity.

A correspondent well known on the Turf both North and South, writes as follows upon a recent article in this paper:—

In contrasting the three mile races of Rodolph and Mingo, two important facts are kept out of view, to wit, Mingo, 4 years old, carried 104*lbs.*, Rodolph, 4 years old, 94*lbs.;* again there was nothing to put Mingo up, particularly the second heat, which he ran altogether at his ease. He could have repeated in the time he ran the first heat, whereas 'tis said he could have run each heat in three seconds less than he did. If 7lbs. are equal to a distance, what will a difference of 10lbs. make in three mile heats? Rodolph, therefore, taking into consideration the difference in weights, has not made the best three mile heats ever made on the Continent.

The friends of Mingo are pleased to hear that Post Boy is all right again, and hope to meet next Spring and settle with his friends to their heart's content the account between him and Mingo; happy also to hear that Miss Fanny is doing as well as could be expected. Mingo will be most happy in being permitted to pay his respects to her in course of the Spring, in which event he promises faithfully that he will not leave either a link or "heeltap" to be brought out of her "at the finish."

Vicksburg, Miss., Feb. 20, 1837.

Dear Sir,—The people here are very much in the spirit of racing, and are sparing no expense to have good horses. Rodolph has lately been purchased by a company of gentlemen in this section for a large sum—something like Sixteen Thousand Dollars!

The new course which is now under way at this place, when its improvements are completed, will be inferior to none. It is directly on the bank of the river, where a number of steamboats are to be seen passing and repassing every day. The road from the course to town, which is four miles, is as level as a house floor, and very firm. I am a trainer and lover of fine horses, and also a native of New-York.

P.S. The Spring races at Vicksburg will take place some time in April or May next. Very truly, your obedient serv't. ****

Fayetteville, N. C., Feb. 1837.

My Dear Sir—I feel myself bound to give you "some account of the quarter races" I have witnessed since my sojourn or domiciliation in this region. I regret that the influence of the priesthood has heretofore prevented the establishment of a course upon this, the middle ground between Virginia and South Carolina. Better things may come out of the future.

I paid a visit to Mr. Mears' stables in an adjoining county a few days ago.—He is one of the owners of Catherine Davis, and is a spirited and liberal turfite. He sends chiefly to Rowton this season.

Very respectfully, yours, ****

Washington, March 12th, 1837.

It has been stated that, with but few exceptions, our four milers, that have run their four miles in the present century, under 7m. 50s. have been almost invariably descendants of imported Medley, as the distance horses in England, are of his ancestor, Old Snap. To the illustrious catalogue may be added the best 4 milers of last year in the Atlantic states—Bascombe, Post Boy, Mingo, Fanny Wyatt, and Atalanta; perhaps others. From a recent paper, it seems John Bascombe's great grandam was by Paragon—a renowned competitor of the Maid of the Oaks—both of them by imported Spread Eagle; the dam of the former by Belair, the best son of Medley. INDEX.

Philadelphia, March 13, 1837.

Skylark.—A friend informs me that Skylark, imported, is a very fine horse, strong at all points, and of superior form. The account of his performances pleases me better than that of any recently imported horse: he ran often, mostly for plates, carrying heavy weights, was very successful, and when withdrawn from the turf was as sound as a roach.

Macon, Ga., March 6, 1837.

Dear Sir—Since I had the pleasure of seeing you last summer, I have purchased of a friend, Col. A. J. Lawson, of this State, (Ga.) his celebrated brood mare Kitty Fisher, whose pedigree I wish you to have inserted in the forthcoming Stud Book.

Kitty Fisher, by the celebrated horse Old Gallatin, dam by Imp. Bedford, grandam by Debonaire, g. g. dam by Imp. Wildair, g. g. g. dam by Grey Diomed, &c. She is full sister to Maria, the dam of Charles Kemble and Wild Will, &c.

Your friend, Gen. Lamar, of [illegible]exas, is daily expected here. If it is convenient, come South and see him: we would be much pleased to see you here.

Yours, very respectfully, John Lamar.

SOUTH CAROLINA JOCKEY CLUB.

We had intended to have given additional details this week of the recent meeting of this time-honored Club, but our columns have been pre-occupied by the long list of English Winning Horses for 1836, which we publish entire. The Officers of the S. C. Jockey Club, for 1837, are composed of the following gentlemen:—

Col. Charles C. Pinckney, President.—Jas. Rose, Esq., Vice President.—Dr. John B. Irving, Secretary.—Isaac E. Holmes, Esq., Solicitor.—Wm. Ravenel, Esq., Treasurer.—T. P. Lowndes, Wm. C. Hayward, James McPherson, James Sinkler, J. E. B. Finley, W. Washington, and W. J. Bull, Esquires, Stewards.—Col. Abram Miller, Resident Steward.

We have received from a correspondent the annexed details of a Grand Trotting Match against Time:

WEDNESDAY, March 1, 1837.—Washington Course, Charleston, S.C. Match $1000, on Col. Joseph Alston's b. g. Pelham, against Time.—Sixteen miles within the hour, in harness.

The following gentlemen were the Judges and Timers:—Col. Hampton, Col. Ashe, Dr. Irving, and Mr. Rose: the driver was a Mr. Wallace, who rode about 160 lbs. The Charleston Courier gives the following particulars, which are more full in some respects than those received from our correspondent.

GREAT TROTTING MATCH AGAINST TIME.

The sports of the turf were continued yesterday, over the Washington course, by a trotting match against time, for five hundred dollars aside—to do sixteen miles within the hour.

About half-past four o'clock the horse came on in harness, attached to a light sulky, and was started by the judges. The first mile was done at an easy pace. It was evident that the sulky was not in proper order, the wheels not being well secured to the axle, thus producing an uneven motion, which must have operated to the disadvantage of the animal. The great strength of the nag, however, was such as to overcome this disadvantage, and he did the mile in good style in 4:5.

At this period the backers of time were free in their offers of two to one agst. the horse. These offers were taken, however, in several instances. The horse continued his course during the five following miles, with an increased speed—the fourth mile being done in 3:28. A little before coming in the seventh time, he was stopped, about the last quarter, from some cause which we did not ascertain, and was 4:35 in making the mile. At that time he was taken out of harness, washed, and saddled, which occupied 1:44. He was then started the eighth mile under the saddle, and made it in 3:28, and finished the whole sixteen miles in 58:28, being 1:32 within the time.

The following is a statement of the different miles:—

	M.	S.		M.	S.
1st mile	4	5	9th mile	3	24
2d do	3	30	10th do	3	20
3d do	3	36	11th do	3	27
4th do	3	28	12th do	3	30
5th do	3	45	13th do	3	20
6th do	3	30	14th do	3	15
7th do	4	35	15th do	3	14
8th do	3	48	16th do	3	14
				56	41
Add saddling and washing				1	44
Stopped 7th mile					3
Total time				58	28

The course was tolerably well attended, considering that no public notice of the match had been given—and the noble animal that accomplished the feat was most enthusiastically cheered by the crowd when he had completed his work. We have reason to believe that the task could have been performed in at least one minute less time. The sulky being faulty, and the rider quite heavy, must have made a considerable difference against the horse.

THE HORSE TAMER.

Dear Sir,— Llangollen, Ky. Feb. 19, 1837.

It was on the 26th of May, 1823, at Orange Court House, in the Old Dominion, (God bless her!) where I then lived, that I first saw the late Jonathan Smith. It was court day, and he, surrounded by a crowd of gentlemen, began thus:—"Every groom and trainer, gentlemen, has his own way of bridling, and breaking, and managing horses. I am a teacher of the art—I can tame the most ungovernable horse on this green in one hour. And if any of you want to know how, I will teach you the theory, and shew you the practice, on this condition.—If I fail, you shall pay me nothing; if I succeed, and satisfy you that you can do it as well as I, you and each of you who are taught, shall pay me $10. I will make the horse follow me without bridle, halter, or saddle, through this crowd—stand quietly while I crack this whip repeatedly over his back—make him give me any foot at command—and lie down if you require it." "Agreed, agreed!" cried half a dozen voices, of which mine was one. "Bring up Madison's mare, and if he can do half what he says with her, he must deal with the devil." "No, gentlemen," said Smith, "there is no devilment in it, but plain common sense, as you will see. Take the mare into that house out yonder," (it was a log house, about 20 feet square,) "all horses may be managed in the same way." The mare was a wild, skittish young thing, high-tempered and vicious withal, disposed to kick and bite, and would not let a stranger touch her. "Come, gentlemen," said Smith, "let us go to the stable." As he went along, he examined carefully a whip which he carried, formed like a waggoner's, but lighter in the handle, and longer in the thong and lash. When we got to the door, Smith said no man but himself must enter. "Look through the cracks, and see what I do, and how I do it.—Shut the door after me, and fasten it." In he went suddenly, and very boldly, and before the mare could survey him, he was giving her the lash on the hind legs and thighs, with quick, sharp strokes. Around she went, kicking, jumping, backing out, and seeming as if she would break through the side of the house, keeping at the greatest possible distance from him. No rest, no breathing time was given; the sweat began to flow, and the mare slower in her movements, and occasionally to turn so as to screen her hind legs from the lash. When she turned her head towards him, and approached nearest, he stopped the whip, stretched out his hand towards her and said, "Come along." But she was off again instantly, and again the lash was applied. Presently she stopped, turned, looked at him, and inclined slightly towards him. He reached out his hand, stopped whipping, and touched her neck, saying again, "Come along." But there was no come along in her—there she stood sullenly. Away he leaped, and plied the lash, and still repeated "Come along." She soon turned, came towards him, and stopped. He was watching her, and the moment she began to advance, he did also, so that now he was near her, he patted her—stopped whipping, and as he moved away said, "Come along." She began to move with him; but as if panic struck, a moment afterwards darted off. The lash was poured into her. She stopped, trembled, and dunged. "You'll see now," said Smith to us; "they generally do this when giving up." She approached—he patted her neck, stopped whipping, and said, "Come along," moving slowly from her. She now obeyed, following him several times around the room. He patted her neck, and as she was following him, he suddenly darted away, and began with the whip, crying, "Come along." Instantly she was at his side, and the whip ceased to flash through the air, and he was patting her neck as she followed him around. Whenever she lagged, he was away, and the whip applied. Never after that would she remain two feet from him. "You see, gentlemen," said he, "the principle.—The whip never touches her to hurt when near me—nothing near me, or that I bring to her, is to hurt her so much as her fear of me, or anything in contact with me." He then took off his glove, thrust his fist into his armpit, and then rubbed it on and in her nostrils. After a few more times around the room, the mare following close to him, he said, "Open the door." The door was opened, and the mare followed close to him off to the crowd, and through it, and back again into the stable. He came out, closed the door, and said, "This, gentlemen, is always the first lesson, and never has to be repeated. After a horse follows in the stable, it is but to make him do it in a small lot, where he cannot escape you. It has taken about thirty minutes. On the whole, it is humane, for it prevents all future contention. On entering her stable hereafter, she should be reminded by a single touch of the whip, and 'Come along.' She will now follow the smallest boy, who will go in alone, give her the hint with the whip, and say, 'Come along,' for a treaty has been formed with her to this effect, that when near you, she is never to be struck; but if at a distance, and disobedient, she suffers, not after the fault, but during its commission. By this treatment her whole nature will be changed, and she may be taught, by the rational application of the principle, to do anything that a horse can do. I will now shew you that she will let me handle her feet, &c., so soon as I teach her what I want her to do." He went in, and closed the door. She came up to him; he patted her shoulder, then her arm, and carried his hand down the foreleg; she drew back and trembled. In an instant he was away from her, and the lash applied, with "Come along." Up she came, and he began again; she now stood fast, while he ran his hand over the leg, patting and soothing her. "She is now satisfied, you see, that she is not to be hurt when I touch her." He then went from leg to leg, till she stood perfectly quiet while he handled them. He then slightly tapped the inside of the fore leg, and said, "Foot—foot."—She raised it on the toe—he took hold of it gently, but firmly, and raised it from the ground, and patted her, then stopped a few moments, and repeated it till when he tapped it she raised the foot off the ground for him. This he did repeatedly to every foot. "She now understands," said he, "that when I slightly tap the leg, and say 'foot,' I want her to give it to me, and she will do it; for if she does not, she well knows the consequence. I will be off yonder, and the lash will take my place—I'm the most agreeable of the two. Horses taught this will never kick you;—they are not only afraid, but from the association of ideas, take pleasure in your touch—it is the sign of peace. I will now put her confidence in me to the severest test." He raised the whip, laid it on her back, rubbed her with it; she trembled like a leaf till she stood nearer to him, as if for protection. He patted her—shook the whip over her, then increased its motion parallel to her back till it whizzed in the air, without ever touching her; louder and louder it sounded, till he began to crack it over her; once only did she retire, and was back again instantly; for the moment she was off she felt the lash. After this he suddenly receded, raised his whip, and said, "Come along." Up she came; then he cracked it over her very often, and she never moved from him.

"You see now, gentlemen, that the cracking the whip is also a sign of peace. She will come to it if you do not deceive her. My horse comes to it if he sees me, although a quarter of a mile off. Suppose your horse is afraid of an umbrella, or anything else: take it into the stable, make him follow you with it on your arm; then touch him, then held over his head, then on his back, and then take him into a lot so small that he cannot escape you, and make him follow there in like manner. He will soon cease to fear anything which you thus prove to him that it will not hurt him; or if he is afraid, the greater fear of distance and the lash will cast out the least fear of anything in contact with you. Break your colts and fillies in accordance with these principles, applied by common sense, and they will play no tricks. Give your colt a first lesson, at the next, make him come up, lay the bridle on his head; when used to it put it on—make him follow with the bridle on without holding it, then lead him.—Handle his legs, and feel as you have seen done to day. Teach him also to bear the crack of the whip near him, and over his back. These several teachings should occupy fifteen or twenty minutes, twice a day, for three or four days, then you may bring your blanket and circingle to him; go on as with the umbrella. When he is used to them, girt the blanket on—make him follow with it on; do this several times; after that, bring in your saddle, use him to it in the same manner. Put it on, and make him follow; after he is used to it, lay over it a long narrow bag, with thirty pounds in each, and let him follow with these on in the stable, and in the lot with the bridle drawn as tight as when in the hands of a rider. Repeat this several times, and you may put up your boy in the stable—still let him follow you—then in the lot, several times. After a day or two you may increase your distance from him, towards the centre of the circle in which he walks. He will soon walk around the lot, obeying the bridle of the boy. You may now bring in another gentle horse, with a rider on, to walk with him, but before him at first. After a few walks thus in the lot, you may take them out, and with ordinary care your colt is broken and gentle, without having injured himself or his rider. To teach him to lie down is quite easy after the foot lesson. Take a fore foot from the ground, hold it firmly, tap the other fore leg, and ask for it. He will necessarily come on his knees. Perhaps he will bounce up, alarmed at his new position. But you must have patience to teach a horse what you want him to do. Begin again; bring him in the same manner as at first on his knees, till he will remain quiet in that attitude, permitting you to walk round him without attempting to rise. Do this till he is used to it; then, when he is on his knees, go to a hind foot, and make him give that to you. When in that position, ask for the other hind foot—and down he comes on his side. Perhaps (if he is a timid animal) he will be alarmed at his new position, and rise up instantly; but take care to pat him as he goes down, and while he is on the ground; but as he rises, and is fairly on his feet, you must retire, and give him a slight admonition with the lash, that he is doing wrong to get up so soon. Go again and again through the same routine, he will soon understand what you want him to do. And a horse taught thus will do for you any thing that he can do when he understands you; and, gentlemen, he is not slow of understanding. The horse is naturally a very observing, sagacious, and sensible animal, docile and obedient when once thoroughly convinced of the superior powers of man. And his intellectual powers, if I may say so without offence, are like those of man, much improved by proper exercise or education, with this remarkable difference:—

> Is of the same opinion still."

Not so with a horse. He never is of the same opinion after the argumentum ad equum has once convinced him. The lesson of punishment at a distance from you, and teaching that near you is the place of safety and peace, with the consequent following you in the stable and out of it, is the first step always, and the key of the whole system. This first lesson must be made effectual, by perseverance and courage. I say courage, for some horses fight bravely in the first lesson—never afterwards if subdued. If they merely kick and back towards you, the size of the room enables you, by keeping your eye constantly on them, and sideling round, to avoid their heels as you apply the lash. The horse will soon be tired of presenting his hind legs to you. But if the horse be a strong, high-spirited stallion, of some age, who, badly managed by a timid groom, has had his own way, when he turns his head towards you, then comes the tug of war. In such cases, gentlemen, I make myself a little ugly and outlandish in my appearance before I enter his presence chamber; and I do enter in a very bold, dashing style—(for horses are very subject to panic from sudden unusual appearances)—before he recovers his self-possession, and can wonder at my audacious impudence, I fall aboard of him like five-and-forty wild cats, and before he is sufficiently self-possessed to front you, he is inspired with some considerable respect for his new customer's courage and prowess. But after a while he begins to think the joke is carrying too far. He turns and gives you a look, which plainly says, 'Who the devil are you?' I am sorry to make the noble horse swear on even so provoking an occasion; but I assure you he is not so much addicted to it as jackasses, and some other inferior animals, and he may at least plead the excuse of—'evil communications corrupt good manners," for this bad habit. Now he surveys you, notwithstanding the sharp lash incessantly applied to the hind legs—fixes his gaze on you, lays his ears close to his head—draws back his lips, disclosing his teeth—opens his mouth—raises his fore feet, and dashes right at you. Woe to the timid braggart, who, with wandering eye or daunted breast, is not ready with hand and heart, and heels, and eyes for this crisis.—Perhaps his time is come!—

> 'Poor Johnny Raw, what madness could impel
> So rum a flat to face so prime a swell.'

Let none such presume to exercise the art of mastering even, much less the noble science of subduing, the horse. But the fearless and practised Horse teacher is ready for the encounter. His eye was fixed upon him—he foresaw the coming storm, and as the open-mouthed and high-raised hoof of the indignant and enraged animal approach, he seems to meet them:—

> "But when the shadow's o'er his brow he slips aside,
> So nimbly slips, that the vain robber past
> Through empty air, and he so high, so vast,"
> Who dealt the stroke came thund'ring to the ground;
> Nor rest, nor pause, nor breathing time is given,
> But rapid as the rattling hail from heaven,
> Beats on the house-top, showers of "horseman's shot"
> Around the "Stallion's legs fly peppering hot."
> From this to the finish is all "tweedle dee,
> You now have my secret—so hand me my fee."

We did hand Jonathan his fee, and I have had no reason to repent it, for I believe that this method has more than once saved my life, although I am no Jack Mytton to throw myself under a horse's heels, or ride full tilt over a rabbit warren.

FOREIGN THEATRICALS.

Italian Opera Buffa, London.—Ricci's opera-seria, entitled Chiara di Rosenberg, was produced here on Tuesday evening. It was first played, if we recollect rightly, at Verona, about five years back; and Mr. Balfe, who was then prosecuting his studies on the Continent, having taken a fancy to the subject, engaged in the production of an opera, founded on the same story, for the English stage, which, with the assistance of Mr. Fitzball, was eventually brought forth under the title of The Siege of Rochelle, though, for anything that we could discover, it had about as much to do with Rochelle as with Rochester. Had the adapter been content with announcing it as a translation, no one would have thought of disputing his claim to any merit it possessed; but the silly attempt at imposition, in bringing out a stale Italian libretto as an original drama, and merely adding two new characters, and rebaptising it in an absurd name, could scarcely have escaped notice, so many persons having attended the performance of Ricci's opera.

Queen's Theatre.—The engagement of Mr. Sheridan Knowles for serious drama, and that of Mr. Hill (our little Yankee favourite) in the comic department, have drawn crowded audiences during the week. Mr. Moss, another actor of some celebrity, in the minor theatres, has been added to the company, and cannot fail to prove a very great acquisition. On Wednesday night he appeared as Glo'ster, in Richard III., and evinced no small skill in his portraiture of that very arduous character. His style of acting is formed somewhat in the model of the late Mr. Kean's, but without much servile imitation; in face and person there is also much similarity, and his declamation would be even more effective than that of his great predecessor, did he possess the same art of modulating his tones, in accordance with the sentiment he has to utter. It was on the whole a very creditable performance so far as regards the hero of the piece, but he was most lamentably supported. Unless the management can secure better representatives for the auxiliary business, it would be wise not to attempt tragedy. The entertainments concluded with a new farce, written for Mr. Hill, by Mr. Moncrieff, called A Down-east Bargain; or, Love in New York. It is a smart, bustling little piece, and well calculated to exhibit Mr. Hill's peculiarly comic forte. The plot is simple enough. A Mr. Something Leech (Loveday,) an Irish emigrant, has opened a boarding-house in New York, with his niece Nobby (Miss Grey,) as his factotum; she is his maid, house-maid, cook—and in short, a maid of all work. Zephanina Makepeace (Hill,) a shrewd, cunning Down-east lad, is in love with the niece, who reciprocates his passion without much pretension to maiden bashfulness. The uncle is averse to their union, but Zephanina extracts his consent on condition that he obtains three lodgers for his new boarding-house. By sheer impudence, he prevails on a lady, who meditates a trick upon an amorous uncle, to take up her quarters there. He next introduces the lady's husband, to whom she has been recently married without her old uncle's sanction. The uncle himself is next installed in the boarding house, under a promise from Zephanina of assisting him in a private amour. This makes the number required; but Leech insists upon having three and "a little one in," which, had he allowed the marriage to take place, would, in all probability, be forthcoming in the ordinary course of such events; but Leech is inexorable—the niece impatient, and her lover not less so—a fourth lodger is obtained in the person of an ugly old lady, who proves to be the amorous gallant's wife, who has pursued him to New York in a fit of jealousy. Some pleasant equivoques occur between the parties, which terminate in the forgiveness of the newly married couple, and the union of Zephanina and Nobby, who receive a handsome dower. Nearly the whole weight of the business falls upon Hill, whose rich humour is perfectly irresistible; it is caricature certainly, but then, like the sketches of Cruikshank, it is full of point; and the whole style of his acting being new in this country, it possesses the additional charm of freshness. The piece was warmly applauded throughout.

Olympic.—On Monday, a sketch in one act, entitled Folly and Friendship, was produced at the above named theatre; it is one of the slightest amid the very slight pieces usually presented here.

Miss Shirreff has thrown up her engagement at Drury-lane Theatre, because the part of Fair Rosamond, in Barnett's new Opera, has been given to Miss Romer, although the character allotted to Miss Shirreff was equally good and prominent as that given to Miss Romer; but then the title of the Opera is "Fair Rosamond!"

Mademoiselle Jenny Vertpre commences her engagement at the Varieties very shortly. Her first character is to be in a drama called Harriet Wilson. The subject is piquant. Several Englishmen, well known both in public life and the fashionable world, will figure in the drama. The characters, it is said, are well supported. Mme. Hebert Massy quits this theatre in April for an operatic engagement in one of the principal provincial theatres. Galignani's Messenger.

Mdlle Fanny Elsler being now completely restored to health, the new ballet in which she is to appear is in active preparation. Mdlle Taglioni will shortly cease to belong to this theatre, of which she is at present, as she ever has been since her debut, the first ornament. Since the intention of Mdlle Taglioni to visit England has been announced, some of the provincial theatres had offered her 100 guineas a night. ib.

Forrest, the American tragedian, has announced in New York a work, the maiden effort of his pen, to be entitled "Rambles in Europe." To these rambles, a memoir of the writer will be prefixed.

Hamblin, previous to setting sail for England, had benefits at the Park, the National, and Franklin Theatres. No charge whatever was made either by manager, actor, printer, or newspapers (for advertisements.) This is creditable to American liberality; we do not give such benefits here. In the cases of the (almost) sudden deaths of Rae, Raymond, and Oxberry, the same expenses were exacted from their widows as were charged to any actor taking a benefit in the regular course. [Oh! oh! oh!]

There is a little theatre in New-York, called "The Richmond Hill," lately under the management of Mrs. Hamblin (who has been for some time separated from her husband;) it is now in the hands of Miss Nelson, who is described as the Madame Vestris of America. [Oh!]

Balfe is composing the music of a new ballet for Taglioni, which is to be brought out with great splendour, at Drury-lane Theatre.

Cramer, Addison, and Beale, have purchased the music of Barnett's Opera, Fair Rosamond.

Mrs. Waylett is now playing at the Birmingham Theatre.

Mr. Kean has been performing at Manchester to crowded houses during the last week.

Lately, at the theatre of Weimar, during the representation of a German tragedy, the public, consisting of seven spectators, who occupied a portion of one of the benches of the pit, thought proper to hiss the actors most unmercifully.—The latter returned the compliment with interest, emboldened by the feeble numerical force of their opponents, and reinforced by the machinist and the bill-sticker of the theatre, and also by a personage who combined in his single person the offices of prompter, candle-snuffer, and scene-shifter. The audience, having the second-best of the contest, were ultimately obliged to evacuate the theatre.

National Opera.—This project, the particular details of which we have already described, begins to find favour, not only amongst musical professors, but with the public in general, several non-professors having subscribed for shares to a very considerable amount. When fairly set in motion, we have no doubt whatever, that the capital required will be readily obtained.

Liverpool.—There are now five theatres in Liverpool open. Ducrow commences an engagement on Monday at the Amphitheatre. The houses so far have been but "bad business."

Mr. Dowton, the celebrated comedian, and son, came passengers in the New York packet ship Virginian, which arrived at Liverpool on Monday evening. London Satirist, Jan. 22.

Adelphi.—"Jim Crow" has returned from Liverpool, and on Monday commenced a new engagement at this house. He was welcomed back to his old quarters by a crowded audience. The Bedouin Arabs are also here; and Manager Yates has done well in obtaining their services. They are likely to bring lots of money to the treasury. We perceive they will go through their extraordinary evolutions to-morrow evening; and an entertainment of a novel character will be presented to the public, in which John Reeve, Yates, and Rice, will be the principal actors.

Dowton has returned from America, and is now performing at Manchester.

"Jim Crow" Rice (not the Chancellor) received a present of 50 pounds from the Duchess of St. Alban's, for entertaining her at Brighton. The Duke personated an old woman to the life; and her Grace contributed to the harmony of the evening by chanting a favourite "ditty."

The only thing new at the St. James's Theatre has been the appearance of Madame Sala in Meg Merrilies, which she played with singular ability. This lady has given indications of talents as an actress that must place her, when her powers are more developed, in a very commanding station among the best and most versatile performers of the day.

An experimentalist in Shylock pronounced turquoise as if written turkeys.—Tom Cooke being appealed to for his opinion as to the correctness of the pronunciation, called it a fowl inaccuracy, which he rendered into plain English by a subsequent remark, that the man who could so mispronounce a common word was little short of a goose.

The report of Mrs. Wilkinson and family having been lost on their passage to New South Wales is believed to be incorrect.

Sir Robert Peel, in his speech at Glasgow made the following remark, which we take to be one of the wisest modern saws that ever was uttered:—"There are other blessings in life than cheap newspapers."

LONDON TABLE TALK.

A couple who went to be married recently at a country church were astonished at the bridegroom's inexpressibles taking fire, caused by his having thrust a lighted pipe into his pocket, with a view to enjoying himself after the ceremony was over. However great the affection of his flame toward him, she appeared mightily surprised at such a warm return from her spark, whose heated condition seemed likely to produce a really "tinder" passion, as Sir Lucius would say.

A piece of business, "most musical, most melancholy," was brought under the notice of the civic authorities last week. A fellow had stolen a quantity of music, whereupon he was asked if he had an ear for music, to which he replied in the negative. Sir Claudius, who was present, observed that there was no occasion to have asked such a question, when Hobler asked him to explain:—"Why, don't you see," said Clod, "that the fellow had a hand for music; he could not have carried away all these songs by his ear."

A widow, in the Herald of Tuesday, offers herself to the consideration "of any single gentleman as housekeeper. Has no objection to travel, and can bear confinement." If Twiss were a "single gentleman," what an opportunity this would be for him.

"Does your hair curl naturally, Mr. Wombwell?" inquired the Duchess of Beaufort of the zoological wonder. "No, it is curled by hand," was the ironical reply of Chim.

Twiss is right in supposing that because he is a Director in an Omnibus company, that he is qualified for a seat in the Cab-inet: he is already looked upon as a ministerial Kew-riosity.

"Any thing in the papers this morning, Mr. Wombwell?" inquired the Duchess of Beaufort, seeing Chim intent on the Satirist. "His curls, as usual," exclaimed Fitzjordan, volunteering a reply for his friend. The breakfast table was convulsed.

Charley Pearson being reproached for "putting an enemy into his mouth to steal away his brains," replied, "that he did so from a spirit of christian feeling, as the gospel commanded all men to love their enemies."

It may have been observed that Wilkie has been much engaged in portrait painting at the Pavillion during the Christmas. The favour extended to him arose from the following circumstance:—Sir Martin Shee arrived to pay a professional visit. and his Majesty hearing some one in the passage, told Dolly (Lord Adolphus Fitzclarence) to see who it was. The Brilliant immediately attended to the command, and on his return said to his Majesty, 'Shee has come!' 'What!' exclaimed the Queen, who was present, 'under my very nose! She shall not be admitted.' It is said that her Majesty is not yet convinced of her misunderstanding.

The Duchess, in one of her autumnal rambles with the Duke and her 'family' physician, in the neighborhood of Exeter, stopped at a road-side inn to refresh herself with a cup of cider. Boniface did not know his guests, and in handing her Grace a horn of his 'best Devonshire,' in answer to a question 'What inn is this?' replied, 'The Duke's Head, my lady.' The association of the drinking cup and Dukey's os frontis excited loud laughter.

Lord William Paget is announced to take his benefit at the Insolvent Court. His Lordship was said to have gone to sea; but instead of that he has evidently been in hot water, and has got swamped for want of a friendly hand to bale (bail) him out. Lord William will be presented at Court (the Insolvent Court) upon having served the usual time in his Majesty's Fleet. His creditors complain of his pursuits being rather too knave-al.

Mash having stated in the presence of young D'Israeli, that knighthood was not worth his acceptance; Vivian Grey asked, 'for what amount?'

The Marquis of Waterford in a recent set-to with some provincial nymphs, discovered to his cost, that a reeling man cuts sometimes but a sorry figure in a country dance. He for some days bore evident proof of having appeared at the scratch.

Lockhart styles himself the 'literary executor' of Sir Walter Scott. Query, would it not be more germane to the matter to call himself his literary executioner?

Miss Martineau has been much shocked to hear of the influenza, whose approach is said to be quite irresistible. Since it has visited the metropolis, there is scarcely a house but what has most of its female inmates confined. Miss Martineau considers the influenza to be a very dangerous character.

A poor journeyman tailor having indulged too freely in 'gin hot,' was brought before Mr. Conant, at Marlborough-street on Thursday, and being anxious to conceal who he was, boldly announced himself as a peer. He naturally thought that being found 'drunk as a lord,' the deception was perfectly excusable.

A woman's tongue has been found, on actual experiment in Philadelphia, lately, to move 1620 times in a minute! Think of that and weep.

American Boys.—An American of 10 or 12 years of age is as much of a young man as an European at 16; and when arrived at that age, he is as useful in business, and as much to be relied on, as a German at 24, or a Frenchman at 50. Something similar to it may also be found in England; but neither climate nor education promote it to the same extent as in America. From the earliest period of his life a young American is accustomed to rely upon himself as the principal artificer of his fortune. Whatever he learns or studies is with a view to future application, and the moment he leaves school he immerses into active life. His reputation, from the time he is able to think, is the object of his most anxious care, as it must affect his future standing in society, and increase the sphere of his usefulness. Grund's Americans.

Independence of American Servants.—I heard, myself, an American servant tell of the gentleman "he lived with," "that he liked him very well, but always crossed him in politics." His master knew this, but kept him in his employ because he was, in every other respect, a trust-worthy servant. Ib.

ENGLISH SPORTING ITEMS.

Royal Hunt.—His Majesty King Jackson being invited by the owners of the West Kent stag hounds to hunt over their grounds, gathered his friends together, Jack Elmore being among the number. Soon after reaching the ground, Jackson's dogs went off at full cry after a fine hare, and had run about a mile, when they entered on the farm of a Mr. Mott, who instantly appeared, and in an angry tone cried out in a voice of thunder, "How dare you hunt over my land? I warn you off! Whose hounds are these? I'll enter a complaint immediately." And forthwith proceeded to ill-use the dogs—when Elmore made up, and in a deep and commanding voice said, "The King's hounds, and I am his huntsman." This acted like magic. The poor-rate commissioner immediately pulled off his hat; and Elmore had a great deal to do to prevent him falling on his knees to atone for his rudeness to his Majesty's dogs. By this time, however, the hare had escaped. Elmore, therefore, only exacted that he should assist them in finding another hare, and thereby procure his Majesty's pardon. This was no sooner suggested than done, for the worthy Commissioner Mott instantly turned out every soul in his employ, even the very cowboy, to beat the cover. Having started a hare, the party galloped off, his majesty taking the lead, followed closely by his huntsman, leaving Mott "booing, and booing, and booing," with his hat off, in the distance.

Extraordinary Performance.—Capt. Barclay drove the mail-coach from London to Aberdeen without any remission of his task, except during the short periods allowed for the refreshment of passengers on the journey. Having a large sum depending on the event, a little relief was afforded him by a selection of light-mouthed horses; still, so little exhausted was he when he arrived at Aberdeen, that he offered to back himself to drive the return mail to London in the same manner; but the late Lord Kennedy, with whom the original match was made, thought it prudent to decline his challenge. Being quartered at Wrexham, North Wales, with the 23d regiment, or Welsh Fusileers, he obtained leave from his commanding officer to walk, as he said, to Liverpool, to see his brother, who was staying there, promising to be back for the weekly returns. He did "walk," but not to Liverpool, for stopping short at Chester, he mounted the box of the London mail for the purpose of seeing a fight that was to take place the next day but one, somewhere in the neighborhood of London. He saw the fight, and returning on the box of the Shrewsbury mail, and walking thence to Wrexham, appeared in the mess-room of his regiment on the fifth night. But the hardships he endured on this expedition must prove unendurable by any other man. For example—to avoid the suspicion of his Colonel—he did not even take a great coat with him, much less had he any change of clothes; and before he reached Litchfield, those on his back were saturated with rain and sleet. He dried them on his back when he reached London, and straightway went to the fight. On his return to the metropolis he went into a hot bath, and having had two hours' sleep in a bed, started on the box of the night's mail for Shrewsbury. It should here be observed, that in those days the boxes of the mails were not on springs. Sporting Magazine.

Sporting Extraordinary.—On several evenings previous to the late snow storm, Mr. J. Clarke, of the Plume of Fathers Inn, Nettleton, Wiltshire, and keeper upon the manor of A. Carrick, Esq., observed a most extraordinary number of starlings alight on the branches of a small plantation belonging to the above named gentleman. On one of the evenings, having got some men and boys to accompany him, bearing lanterns and a sack, he repaired to a spot favorable for his purpose, and fired 26 times at random among the branches, and brought down not less than 802 birds. In addition to the above, there were found the next morning upwards of 100 more wounded. So that at a rough estimation, there could not be many short of 1000 birds killed at the 26 shots!

Gold and Silver Pheasants.—At Coodwood, near Chichester, the Duke of Richmond has a paddock of six acres devoted to gold and silver pheasants, of the most superb plumage. Some of them have been sold at six guineas a brace; they are as tame as domestic fowls, and feed from the hand of their keeper.

An account of the sporting excursions of Charles X., just published, specifies, among other curious articles, the number of head of game killed by the ex-King in each year. In one season, from 20, to 25,000 head were killed, of which the King killed from 8 to 10,000, the Dauphin 7 to 8000, and the officiers des chasses 5 to 7000. The number of pheasants killed each year by the royal sportsmen was 8200. Each bird cost nearly 20f. to the peasantry.

A correspondent informs us that during the late snow, I. King, Esquire, of Platchington-house, Sussex, shot 127 blackbirds; once nine and several times seven at a shot. A train was made in his garden, baited with rotten apples.—His neighbour, W. Elphick, Esq., killed 113; four other neighbours within four miles killed ninety, making within that distance 330 blackbirds. These gentlemen had not "music in their souls," or they would not have destroyed so many "feathered performers." Bell's Life in London, Jan. 29, 1837.

Leamington Steeple Chace.—The following is a correct list of the entries for this sporting affair:—Marquis of Waterford's ch g Monarch; Lord Macdonald's ch g Captain Bob; Lord Willoughby D'Eresby's Puzzle; Captain Lamb's b g Vivian; Captain Lamb's b m Beatrice; Mr. Barringtons b g by Manfred; Captain Williamson's b g Bittern; Mr. W. PEDESTRIANISM.

Match to Brighton.—The final deposit for this match for 50 pounds a side, between the veteran Townshend and Berry, was made good at the Castle Tavern, Holborn, on Thursday evening, in the presence of a very numerous assemblage of 'ten-toed' amateurs. There was very little betting, and this rather in favour of Townshend, on whom five to four was offered. The match is to take place to-morrow. Townshend is to start precisely at eight o'clock in the morning, and in twenty minutes after, his more youthful opponent is to follow. They are to make the best of their way at any pace they may choose, running or walking, and he who first touches the iron railings which surround the New Church at Brighton, is to be deemed the winner. They go the same road, through Sutton, Reigate, Crawley, and Hickstead, and are to keep the highway—win or lose, Townshend is to be back at the Castle Tavern, Holborn, the same night. Umpires to be appointed to attend each man. The match excites considerable interest among the Pedestrians, and it is expected the distance will be done in seven hours and a half. Both men are stated to be in excellent condition; and Townshend's toe, to which some injury was done in training, is better, although still a little tender. The umpires will go down in post carriages. The distance is rather more than fifty miles.

LONDON POLICE.

The Influenza.—A horse doctor, named Johnstone, summoned a horse-keeper for payment for medical attendance on a mare, which had been dangerously ill, and which, by the judicious exhibition of drenches, balls, and bleeding, had become perfectly convalescent.

Commissioner—Pray what was the matter with the horse?

Plaintiff—It had the influenza, Sir. (Laughter.)

Defendant—Now that's a reg'ler good 'un. Now vere d'ye think my oss could git sich a complaint? Vy you might as vell say as how it had the scarlet fever.

Plaintiff—The horse was very ill, and you know very well I saved its life.

Defendant—I don't know no such a thing, and I shan't pay you nothink.

Commissioner—Yes, but you will; pay it in a month, Sir.

Defendant—I'll see you d——d first. I'll go to prison first.

Commissioner—Oh, very well, then we'll bring the matter to an issue at once. Pay it directly, Sir, or an execution shall be issued immediately. (Laughter.)

Not relishing the idea of going to prison, the defendant paid the money forthwith.

Novel Wager.—A coalheaver, with the usual appurtenances of huge knocked knees, and round Herculean shoulders, known at the City-basin as "Yaffling Billy," summoned a coalheaver at the same wharf for 10s.

Mr. Dubois—What's it for?

Plaintiff—Vy, my Lord, I tell you. We chaps as likes 'ard work likes lots o' beer and wittles, and sometimes we wies (vies) which on us can heat most, and drink most beer, and you'd be astonished if so be as you com'd among us some night and seed us. (Laughter.) Well, I makes a wager as how, arter wed' unloaded Lord Melbourne——

A Juryman—Unloaded who, Sir?

Plaintiff—Vy, Lord Melbourne, and a precious big barge, too, I can tell ye. Howsomdever, I betted a bet as how I'd drink 20 pots of heavy all to my own cheek, in 20 quarters of a hour. (Laughter.) Vell, ve gets rid of old cranky, (the barge,) and I goes reglar to work on the beer, and I vun it, my Lord—(Laughter)—I drink't every drop on it, and 'ad a quarter of an hour to spare; and then this 'ear unhonorable eller said he hadn't got no money, and so I took legal adwice, and took the lor on him.

Commissioner—What do you say to this ungentlemanly transaction?

Defendant—Vy, I 'nose the lor as well as he does, and you 'nose as how he can't rekiver not in pint o' lor; it's a gamling transaction. (Roars of laughter.)

Plaintiff—I'll bet you two to one you'll sartinly fall overboard one of these 'ear days. (The latter observation was made very significantly.) You 'nose hour rules, you warmint. (Laughter.)

Commissioner—Order, sir, and don't threaten the poor man. The jury cannot entertain the case. It is dismissed.

Defendant—(waving his genuine fan tiler in triumph, turned to the plaintiff)—Now, who 'nose the lor, haye, my little yaffler? (Laughter.)

The smutty litigants left the court highly complimenting each other, after the highly approved fashion of Puddle-dock.

Catton won 7 times at Doncaster, 11 at York, 3 at Newmarket, and one at Preston. During his career he won 14 successive races, and walked over one. As will be seen by the Calendar, he was one of the best four milers of his day, and is the sire of many well-known winners, among whom are Tarrare, winner of the St. Leger, Anna, sister to Tarrare, David, Contest, Minster, Diana, Lady Charlotte, Mundig, &c. &c. See Weatherby's Racing Calendar.

At the Epsom meeting, 1835, Mundig, own brother to Trustee, won the Derby Stakes for 3 year olds, carrying 8st. 7lbs., mile and a half, 128 subscribers; 14 started; beating Ascot, Pelops, Ibrahim, Silenus, Coriolanus, by Emilius, &c. &c. 7 to 4 agst Ibrahim, 3 to 1 agst Ascot, 6 to 1 agst Mundig. Ascot came in second, Ibrahim not placed.

At Epsom meeting, in the Spring of 1832, Trustee ran third to St. Giles (St. Giles, Margrave, and Trustee at this time all belonged to the same owners, Gully and Ridsdale) for the Derby Stakes, 101 subscribers, beating Margrave, (winner of the St. Leger Stakes both at Doncaster and Newmarket.) In this race Trustee as lamed, but at the Newmarket First Spring meeting, 1835, having stood his training, he was run against and beaten by Col. Peel's Nonsense, and Lord Exeter's Datura, when Lord Cleaveland ordered him to be sold. [J21

Catton, Trustee's sire, had seven winners last year [1836] on the English turf, who won twelve prizes He has thirty-two of his get already entered for "the big things" to be run in 1837. In 1835 Catton had six winners—Mundig, Aratus, Contest, Chancellor, Zora, etc., who won ten prizes, including the Derby Stakes at Epsom, of 3,300*l*., and 600*l*. at Doncaster.

Whisker, the sire of Trustee's dam, Emma, has several very fine runners on the English turf. In 1835 Whisker's get won eleven prizes, including the gold cups at Liverpool and Northallerton.

IMPORTED STALLION, BERNER'S COMUS,

IS expected to stand in 1837, either at Boardman's Mills, 9 miles South-west from Huntsville, or at the Huntsville Race Track, at $80 the season, or $100 to insure a foal. He was shipped from Liverpool late in November, 1836, on board the ship Sherbrook, bound for Mobile. "Breeders may be assured that this horse will propagate a capital breed of Turf Stock for heats of three and four miles. He was bred in 1827, by Lord Berner, and ran by Col Wilson in 1830-31-32 and 33—was a stout racer, won a dozen prizes, mostly at Newmarket; among them 8 or 10 King's Plates and Cups, at long distances and heavy weights, and frequently in heats. Ran twice 2d to Priam—beat one of the best mares in England, Sir Mark Wood's Lucetta; beat Tranby, and several other good ones; is very near 16 hands high, of good form and remarkably fine action; of a red brown color, with a little white, and unites the Herod and Eclipse blood to the greatest perfection." Was got by Comus, out of Rotterdam, by Juniper, (so highly prized for distance). Grandam Spotless by Walton, Trumpator, Highflyer, Herod, &c. &c. I will, in handbills, extend his pedigree; nothing can be richer, and his performances, in full, will be found excellent.

Huntsville, Ala., January 17, 1837. E. H. BOARDMAN.

Imported CONSOL stands at the Mills in 1837, on last year's terms, viz.: $60, or $70 at the end of the year, and $100 to insure. [F4] E. H. B.

IMPORTED HORSE FLATTERER FOR SALE.

THIS splendid English race horse, now five years old, is offered for sale on accommodating terms, if applied for immediately. His color is a fine brown, without any white marks. He is a horse of immense size, full sixteen hands high, with astonishing power, and great stride, and perfectly sound and free from blemish. His blood combines several of the most fashionable crosses of the day.

Pedigree.—Flatterer was got by Muley, (son of Orville and the famous mare Eleanor): his dam Clare, bred by Lord Egremont in 1824, was got by Marmion, grandam Harpalice, by Gohanna, g. grandam Amazon, by Driver—Fractious by Mercury—Woodpecker—Everlasting by Eclipse.

Flatterer was bred by Mr. Nowell, in 1831, and run in England by Sir Mark Wood. He was imported by Mr. Wadsworth, of Geneseo, N Y., July, 1835, by whom he was placed in the stable of ROBERT L. STEVENS, Esq., near the Union Course, Long Island, where he still remains.

Flatterer's performances both in England and in this country, do no discredit to his noble Stock. In 1834 he came out for the Two Thousand Guinea Stakes at the New Market First Spring meeting, and ran a capital second to Glencoe, beating Bentley and four others, only three placed. On the 29th of May following, he started for the Derby at Epsom, won by Plenipo, and was not placed. At the Newmarket First October meeting he won the Grand Duke Michael Stakes of 50 sovs each, for 3 yr. olds, colts 8st. 7lb, fillies, 8st 3lb. A. F.—Twenty six subscribers, again beating Bentley, Pavis, Olympic, and Dick.

Flatterer was landed at New Nork, after a long passage, during which he never laid down, the latter part of July, 1835—was put in training in August, without the possibility of preparation, but notwithstanding, ran two races in October and November following, one of which, mile heats, he won. His performances during the past year, are so well known as to render any summary of them in this place uncalled for. They are contained at length in the Racing Calendar of the N. Y. Spirit of the Times, and prove him a horse of uncommon speed and unusual ability to take up heavy weight.

Terms of sale will be made known on application (if by letter post paid) to the Editor of this paper, 157 Broadway, or to the subscriber, near the Centreville Trotting Course, L. I., where the horse may be seen.

BAREFOOT.

THIS justly celebrated imported horse, one of the few now in America that ever won the Great Doncaster St. Leger, and a proved getter of winners in America, has recently been purchased by the undersigned at a high figure, and will stand for mares the ensuing season near the Oakland Race Course, Louisville, Kentucky, at the moderate price of $75 for the season, and $1 to the groom. The money to be paid, with the expense of keeping the mares, when they are taken away, or on or before the 15th of July next, when the season will end.

On the English Turf Barefoot proved himself one of the most successful racers of his day, he was not only the best in the North, but entitled to rank as the best colt of his year, at Newmarket, he having there offered to run the noted Emilius for 2000 guineas, who declined the challenge; and he ran on, when six years old, all distances, as will be seen by an examination of his performances as here noted.

That which, in addition to unrivalled performances and pure and fashionable pedigree, gives value to a stallion, Barefoot claims. He has proved himself not only a sure foal-getter, but a getter of winners, in this country! Where is the imported horse now in America, or west of the Alleghany, with the exception of Leviathan, of whom this can be said!

He is the sire of Clara Howard, the fleetest of the fleet, and game, over the course of 3 and 4 miles, with high Union Course weights. Also of Admiral, Ajax, Tramp, and the colt out of Agnes, all winners of important races, matches or sweepstakes, in quick time, and of several other good ones.

By reference to the advertisement now or heretofore published in the Spirit of the Times, under the head of "Union Course, Long Island," of Matches and Sweepstakes to come off, it will be seen that many of Barefoot's get are heavily engaged in both matches and sweepstakes of importance. For one colt dropped last Spring, own brother to Clara Howard, $1500 was refused, when only five months old, and several others, now yearlings, could not be purchased, for less than $1,000 or $1500 each.

History and Description.—Barefoot is a chesnut, with a star and small stripe down the face, but without white feet or other white marks; standing upon short legs, and of great substance, as his dimensions hereafter given show. He was bred by Gilbert Compton, Esq., near York, and foaled in 1820—was sold at an early age to Richard Watt, Esq., of Bishop Burton, near Beverley, in Yorkshire, who brought him forward on the turf, and after winning the Great St. Leger in 1823, was sold by Mr. Watt for 3,000 guineas, to the Earl of Darlington, (now Marquis of Cleaveland), who, in 1827 or 1828 disposed of him to Admiral Sir Isaac Coffin, Baronet, who sent him to America for the benefit of his native country at large, after having beaten nearly all the best runners in England, and he was landed at New York from the ship Napoleon, Capt. Smith, May 25th, 1828. C. R. Colden, Esq., of New York, better known in the Sporting world as "an old Turfman," took the admeasurement of his different points on the day he was landed, which were then as follows:—Height, 5 feet 2½ inches—girth, 5 feet 9 inches—arm, in circumference, 1 foot 9 inches—length from the breast, or anterior point of the shoulders, to the extreme point of the hip, 4 feet 11 inches—circumference of the fore leg below the knee, 8 inches—back or sway, from the posterior termination of the scapula, or shoulder blade, to the coupling, 1 foot 5½ inches.

His Pedigree cannot be surpassed—he was got by Tramp, out of Rosamond, by Buzzard; her dam Rosebury, sister to Huby, by Phenomenon; her dam Miss West, by Matchem—Regulus—Crab—Childers—Basto. Tramp was got by Dick Andrews, out of a Gohanna mare; her dam Flaxinella, by Trentham—Woodpecker—Everlasting, by Eclipse. Dick Andrews was got by Joe Andrews, out of a Highflyer mare; her dam by Cardinal Puff—Tatler—Snip—Godolphin Arabian. Joe Andrews was got by Eclipse, out of Amaranda, by Omnium; her dam Cloudy, by Blank—Crab—Partner, &c.

On the English Turf, Barefoot proved himself one of the most successful racers of his day; having beaten nearly, if not all, the best runners in England, as will be seen by the following statement of his performances, as well as by reference to the Sporting Annals for the years 1823 to 1826, inclusive.

PERFORMANCES.

At the York Spring Meeting, 1822, he run second to Miss Fanny, in a sweepstakes of 30gs. each for two year olds, for which eight started, and three only were placed. In September, 1822, (then only two years old), he won a sweepstakes of 20gs. each, 11 subscribers, at Pontefract, carrying 8st. 3lbs. (115lbs.) beating Bordeaux and 4 others very easy. Barefoot, at the Spring meeting at York, May, 1823, at three years old, St. Leger Stakes, one mile and three-quarters, 8st. 3lbs. (115lbs.) beating Sir Anthony and Harpooner. Time, 3:15, or 1.51 per mile.

1823—At the August meeting at York, won a sweepstakes, 17 subscribers, 8st. 5lb. (117lb.) one mile and a quarter. Time, 2:22, or 1:52 per mile, beating Richardson's b. c. by Filho da Puta—Nitrogen—Isabella, and one other. At Pontefract, Sept. 2, won a sweepstakes, 10 subs., 1½ miles 8st. 3lbs. (115lbs.) beating Palatine. Won very easy.

Doncaster Meeting, Sept. 1823—Monday, Sept. 15, the St. Leger Stakes of 26 guineas each, for three year old colts, 8st. 2lb. (114lbs.); fillies 8st. (112lbs.) 84 subscribers. 1. Mr. Watt's ch. c. Barefoot, by Tramp, out of Rosamond, Goodison. 2. Mr. Houldsworth's b. c. Sherwood, by Filho da Puta, Scott. 3. Mr Riddle's b. c. Comte d'Artois, R. Johnson. The following also started but were not placed: Mr. Peirse's br. c. by Comus, out of Rosanne; Lord Surrey's br. f. Etiquette, by Orville; Mr. West's ch. c. Claude Lorraine, by Rubens; Mr. Roger's b. c. Tancred, brother to Pacha, by Selim; Sir M. W. Ridley's br. c. Ringlet, by Whisker; Lord Kelburn's ch. c. Caledonian, by Stamford; Mr. Bunter's br. c. by Orville, out of L'Huile de Venus; Sir T. Mostyn's b. f. Mercandotti, by Muley; and Mr. Ferguson's ch. c. North Star, by Octavian. Note—Sherwood, Tinker, and Rosanne colt, Barefoot, Columbus, Comte d'Artois, Tancred, Mr. Uppleby's colt by Proselyte, Polly, the Lisette filley, North Star, Hydra, Meltonian, Berezina, Palais Royale, Brilliante Ringlet, Plumber, Rhubarb, Isabella, Brighton, Honest John, and L'Huile de Venus' colt, went off without being started by the clerk of the course, leaving at the post Caledonia, Mercandotti, Claude Lorraine, and Etiquette, when the Rosanne colt came in first, Barefoot second, and Comte d'Artois third. This was decided by the Stewards and gentlemen appointed from the Club to be a false start, and the race was afterwards run as above. False Start—Sherwood made very severe play, and kept the lead up to the Red House, when he was headed by Comte d'Artois, and some very severe running then took place between the Comte, Barefoot, and Rosanne, the latter winning by only a head. Tinker (afterwards known as the celebrated Lottery) was beat early, and Barefoot was shut out in running. Run in 3:22. The Start—The Comte here made severe play, until about two distances from home, when Barefoot came alongside of him, and won very easy by two lengths. Run in 3:23½. See page 69 of English Racing Calendar, attached to vol. 12 of the English Sporting Magazine, for 1823, and also Annals of Sporting for 1823, vol. 4, p. 248. It is also worthy of note, that the St. Leger Course, in 1823, was 1 mile, 6 furlongs, and 175 yards, it has since been curtailed 43 yards, leaving it of latter years only 1 mile, 6 furlongs, and 132 yards, precisely 308 yards short of 2 miles, which, although run last year in 3:23, yet Barefoot in 1823, went 43 yards further in the same time, and repeated the distance with only the addition of a quarter of a second. Moreover, in the first race, ordered to be run over, in consequence of being adjudged a false start, Barefoot, although shut out, that is, hemmed in on all sides by the crowd of horses, so as to obstruct him, nevertheless, lost by only a head! And in the second trial won easy by two lengths. Here then his success did not depend upon any fortuitous circumstance; he proved himself, by repetition, decidedly the best horse, of a large lot of good ones, and is in justice entitled to credit, for that which no horse in America can show a claim,—running 1 mile, 6 furlongs, and 175 yards, (nearly 265 yards short of two miles) when 3 years old, with 114lbs. upon his back, in 3:23, and repeating it in 3:23½.

In corroboration of what is here said, will be found in the Annals of Sporting, vol. 4, page 244—"at length the St. Leger of 1823 is decided, and Barefoot, after running the race twice, is declared the victor, thus proving the old adage, that public running is the sure and safest criterion to back a horse."

After winning the Doncaster Great St. Leger, he was purchased by Lord Darlington (now Marquis of Cleaveland) for 3000 guineas—was carried by him to Newmarket, where he challenged Colonel Udney's celebrated horse Emilius (the recent winner of all the great stakes, and since the sire of Priam, Plenipo, Sarpedon, and others), for 2000 guineas, which was not accepted. At Newmarket, Houghton meeting, in October, he won the handicap plate, £50, distance, 1 mile, 1 quarter, and 24 yards, 8st. 10lbs. (122lbs.) beating Tressilian, Van Loo, Aaron, Nicoli, Mina, and Mr. Williamson's Partisan colt. Won easy. Thus winning every race for which he started, for that year, and beating the best horses on the turf.

1824—At four years old, June meeting, at Ascot Heath, he started for the Gold Cup, value 100gs., against Bizarre, carrying 8st. 2lbs. (114lbs.) 2 miles and a half, 7 subscribers, and was beaten, after a well contested race. At the same place he won the Swinley stakes, 3 subscribers, mile and a half, by walking over, no horse appearing to contend with him. At Doncaster, September meeting, on Monday, he started for the King's plate, 4 miles, 10st. 7lbs. (147lbs.)—Time, 8:18, and the favorite at starting; but was beaten by Arrogance and Bordeaux, coming in third and beating Bugle. At the same meeting, the Wednesday following, he started for a sweepstakes, 5 subs. St. Leger Course, carrying 8st. 7lbs. (119lbs.) and beaten by Lottery, the best horse of his day, carrying 8st. 3lbs. (115lbs.)—thus giving Lottery, of the same age, 4lb., and whom he next year beat at even weights. The time of running 3:30. The above is the only time of starting in 1824.

1825—At Lancaster, in June, then 5 years old, he won the Gold Cup, value 100gs. added to a sweepstakes of 10gs. each, 17 subscribers, 3 miles, 8st 8lbs., (120lbs.), time not given; beating Lottery, (above mentioned, 5 years old, same weight), Young Corrector, 5 years old, Panthea, 4 years old, carrying 7st. 11lbs. (109lbs.) an excellent contested race. At Derby, in July, the same year, he started for the Gold Cup, 15 subscribers, of 10 guineas each, 3 miles, 8st. 12lbs. (124lbs.) and was beaten by Sir Grey and Canteen, both 4 years old, and carrying 8st. 2lb. (114lbs.) and beating Sligo, 4 years old, carrying 114lbs.; an excellent race. At Wolverhampton, in August, he started for the Darlington Cup, added to a sweepstakes of 13 subscribers, 10 sovs. each, 3 miles, 8st. 10lbs. (122lbs.) beating Gen. Mina, 5 years old, same weight, and Sir Grey, 4 years old, 8st. 2lbs. (114lbs.) the same horse that beat him at Derby, as above stated. At Northallerton, Yorkshire, in October, he started for the Gold Cup, value 100gs., with a sweepstakes added, 11 subscribers, 10gs. each, 2 miles, 8st. 9lbs. (121lbs.) agst. The Alderman, 3 years old, 6st. 10lbs. (94lbs.) and was beaten only by a neck, notwithstanding the great difference of weight. It may be remarked that The Alderman has proved himself to be one of the best horses of his day. The above are all Barefoot's races of the year 1825.

1826—At the Manchester meeting, May 17th Barefoot won the Free Handicap Stakes, of 30 sovs. each, 2 miles and a distance, he carrying 9st. (126lbs.), beating Miller of Mansfield, 8st. 4lbs. (116lbs.), and Lord Grosvenor's Hybla, 5 years, 7st. 12lbs. (110lbs.); a good race; 5 to 4 on Barefoot. At Lancaster, July 21, he won the Gold Cup, value 100 guineas, added to a sweepstakes of 10gs. each, 3 subscribers, carrying 8st. 12lbs. (124lbs.), 3 miles, beating Crowcatcher, 4 years old, 112lbs., and Sophy, by Comus, 4 yrs. 109lbs. The above comprise all the races of Barefoot.

Barefoot is remarkably beautiful, very fine in his forehand, muscular, and well proportioned in all respects, very active, of a high spirit, and at the same time of a good temper.

Of his having proved a good and sure foal-getter we are enabled to give the following testimonial, under the hand of a very eminent breeder, and one of great and long experience.

New York, Jan. 23, 1837.

I hereby certify that the imported horse Barefoot has stood under my directions at West Farms, in West Chester County, New York, and at the Union Course, L. I., two seasons, and has proved himself a sure and good foal-getter. I consider him the best stallion introduced to the State of New York, since the importation of Messenger in 1791, he having got more runners in proportion to the number of thoroughbred mares which he has covered, than any other stallion which has come under my observation. JAMES BATHGATE.

With the foregoing full and correct documents, I now offer the services of this valuable horse to the breeders of Kentucky and Western States generally, and respectfully request them to call and view him, and solicit their patronage.

ROWTON.

THIS beautiful Stallion and celebrated Racer will make his second season in America, under the direction of Mr. F. H. Gerow, at W. Hampton's Woodlands Estate, five miles below Columbia, and be let to mares at $75 the season, $120 to insure, and one dollar to the groom; the money to be paid in advance, or before the mares are taken away.

The season will commence on the first of February, and end the first of July. Extensive rye and grass pastures provided for mares, and separate lots for such as may have young foals, and mares well fed at 50 cents per day. Every care will be taken to guard against accidents, but no responsibility should they occur.

Rowton is a good chesnut without white, fifteen and a half hands high, of great bone and muscle. He is a horse of the finest limbs, and most exact proportions, and after the exportation of Amphion, was considered the most beautiful stallion in England. His stock are thought very promising, and are selling as high as the get of any stallion in the kingdom. By a reference to the sporting periodicals of the day, Rowton's pedigree and performances may be seen, as also the very high estimation in which he is held both in England and America.

THE THOROUGH BRED IMPORTED HORSE DAGHEE

WILL stand the present season (beginning on the 20th of March and ending on the 15th of July) at the stable of Jeromus Snediker, near the Union Race Course, Long Island, where he will serve mares at $40 the season, to be paid when the mare is withdrawn, and $1 to the groom, in all cases. Mares will be insured at $60 each, to be paid when she is ascertained to be in foal, but the insurance to be forfeited if parted with before it is ascertained she is in foal—or if a mare insured does not regularly attend the horse, mares will be considered as put by the season, unless a written order for insurance accompany her.

Daghee is a splendid horse—his blood is very pure, and is not surpassed by that of any horse. The terms for his services (being the same with those at which he stood last season) are comparatively low, but from no considerations of inferiority to any horse on the Continent, either as to Racing Form or Blood, but from the fact that his colts are yearlings, and his reputation as a Stallion is yet to be established by their success on the Turf. Mares will be fed with grain, or pastured on the usual terms, and every attention paid to prevent accidents or escapes, but no liability assumed for either. For a more particular description of Daghee, see American Turf Register, Vov. 5, No. 5, page 226, for 1834; as also the bills of the day. He is well worth an examination by those who take pleasure in seeing fine horses.

Pedigree.—DAGHEE was bred by Com. Sir Robert Barrie, at Swarthdale, in Lancashire, and foaled in 1829. He was got by Muley, the sire of Leviathan, (now in Tennessee), of Margrave, winner of the St. Leger in 1832, and many other horses of note. His dam, Fatima, bred also by Com. Sir Robert Barrie, was got by the celebrated Bay Nedjd Arabian Sheik out of Maria, bred by the late Duke of Hamilton, at Ashton Hall, in Lancashire. The Duke of Hamilton's Maria, (see English General Stud Book, edition of 1822, vol. 2, page 186), was got by Orville, her dam, Lady Jane, also bred by the Duke of Hamilton in 1806, was got by the famous Hambletonian, her dam, Bay Javelin, (also bred by the Duke,) by Javelin, out of Young Flora, own sister to Spadille, by Highflyer—Javelin, Young Flora, (sister to Spadille,) and Spadille, were likewise bred by the Duke of Hamilton, and may with propriety be styled his family of horses. The Duke of Hamilton was "celebrated for stout blood; he won the St. Leger no less than seven times, a circumstance quite unparalleled on the turf, and ran first for it the eighth, but the stakes were given to Lord Fitzwilliam, his Grace's rider having jostled." Young Flora was out of Flora, by Squirrel, her dam, Angelica, by Snap—Regulus—Bartlett's Childers—Honeywood's Arabian—Dam of the two True Blue's. Muley (sire of Daghee) is, perhaps, the best son of Orville, and out of Sir T. Charles Bunbury's famous mare Eleanor, by Whiskey.

[Mh 11-4t.] EDWARD C. MAYO.

AMERICAN MONTHLY MAGAZINE.

THE publishers of the American Monthly Magazine have the pleasure to announce that an arrangement has been made with ROBERT M. BIRD, Esq., of Philadelphia, to become an associate editor, with Mr. Hoffman and Mr. Benjamin. The work will hereafter be published simultaneously on the first day of every month, in New-York by George Dearborn & Co., 38 Gold-street; in Philadelphia by T. Cotrell Clarke, 80 S. Second-street; in Boston by Otis, Broaders & Co., 147 Washington-street.

The arrangement with Dr. Bird will bring not only the aid of his own pen, but that of many other valuable contributors to the Magazine. The publishers of the American Monthly Magazine have ever desired to make their work worthy of the countenance and favor which will best enable them to carry out their objects to an influential extent,—to give the work a broad American character, so that, as a legitimate representation of national thought and feeling, and not the organ of a mere section of country, it may enlist the good will of men of taste and talent in all parts of the United States. To this end arrangements are in progress for enlisting the aid of contributors in every section of the Union. Among other matters of interest to appear in the Magazine, will be a series of papers on some of the great natural curiosities of the West—illustrated by drawings and engravings executed expressly for the Magazine.

Orders for the work to be addressed to either of the publishers. Terms, five dollars per annum—with liberal discount to agents. [mh 18-4t]

SPLENDID STAKES IN TENNESSEE,

TO be run over the Gallatin (Tenn.) Course.—A Stake for the foals of 1837, to be run the Fall of 1840, Two mile heats, $1000 entrance, $250 forfeit, to close on the 1st of June, 1837. To this splendid stake there are now nine subscribers. In this stake neither Luzborough, O'Kelly, Autocrat, Pacific, Telegraph, Jefferson, Wild Bill, Anvil, or Margrave have any representatives. We think the produce of either of these horses is worthy of entering in the Derby or St. Leger stakes, or any other stakes. Would not the entry of one of their colts by the owner, be a stronger recommendation to the public than voluminous publications in the newspapers. Any owner making an entry shall have an honorable mention made of it in the public prints. Kentucky has run rough shod over Tennessee; we would like to see her carry the war into Africa.

Also a Stake for the foals of 1836, to be run the Fall of 1839, Two mile heats, $100 entrance, h. ft. To this there are 12 subs. To close 1st of March, 1838.

Besides these, I have been requested to propose a Stake for the foals of 1837, to be run the Fall of 1840, Two mile heats, $300 entrance, $100 forfeit.

And another to be run the Fall of 1837, by 2 year olds, Mile heats, $100 entrance, p. p.
Gallatin Tenn., Feb. 22, 1837. [mh 11] THOMAS BARRY, Secretary.

BELSHAZZAR

Will serve mares at The Lodge, Malton, at Ten Guineas a mare. Any Gentleman sending 3 mares, one to be served gratis.

BELSHAZZAR was bred by Mr. Watt in 1830, and was got by Blacklock, out of Manuella, by Dick Andrews, (she won the Oaks in 1812—is own sister to Attisidora, winner of the Doncaster St Leger in 1813—and is the dam of Memnon, also winner of the Doncaster St. Leger in 1825)—her dam Mandane, by Pot8os, by Eclipse, out of Young Camilla—Sister to Colibri, by Woodpecker—Camilla by Trentham—Coquette by the Compton Barb, &c.

[After Attisidora won the Leger, Mr. Watt was offered Ten Thousand Pounds for her, which he refused.]

BELSHAZZAR won the 2 year old Stakes, 20 sovs. each, at the York August meeting, 1832, 18 subscribers. The great 2 year old Stakes, 20 sovs. each, at Doncaster, 31 subs. The York Spring St. Leger Stakes, 25 sovs. each, in 1833, 8 subs. A Sweepstakes of 30 sovs. each at the York August meeting, 1833, 15 subs. BELSHAZZAR was always considered by Mr. Watt to be full as good, or better than Rockingham, but was not fit on the St. Leger day; Rockingham (then being Mr. Watt's property, having bought him of Mr. Allen,) was therefore declared to win. Mr. Watt afterwards refused 3000 guineas for him.

Belshazzar is near 16 hands high—has a beautiful head and forehand, with excellent legs and feet, and immense powers in his loins and hind quarters. [mh 11-2t.]

The Plaquemine track is situated immediately upon the Mississippi, one hundred miles above New Orleans—is one mile six feet in length, and is admirably adapted for making uniform good time, in all weathers. The proprietor has spared no expense to put it in the best order for running, and it is, probably, in reference to its general good condition, second to no track in the Union.

As the races on this track come off immediately after those at New Orleans, it is presumed they will be very well attended, and that the owners of the several stables from Natchez, Alexandria, St. Francisville, and New Orleans, will not fail to visit Plaquemine.

NEW VOLUME FOR 1837.

New York Spirit of the Times;

A METROPOLITAN GAZETTE OF THE

SPORTING, LITERARY AND FASHIONABLE WORLD.

WILLIAM T. PORTER, EDITOR.

THE First volume of the New Series of this journal was completed on the 11th of Feb. last, and the first number of a new volume [the Seventh] was issued on the 18th of Feb. 1837, in which was contained, in addition to its usual varieties, an Alphabetical List of AMERICAN WINNING HORSES, Four Mile Heats, for 1836, which in subsequent numbers will be succeeded by Tables of the Winners at 3, 2, and 1 miles—a perfect LIST OF STALLIONS for 1837—Table of WINNING TROTTING HORSES—and a complete List of ENGLISH WINNING HORSES, at all distances, during the year 1836. In the Lists of Winning Horses the reader is presented at one view with the age, color, sire, dam, and owner of each horse, with the weight carried, the time, the horses beaten, the date of the race and the course, with the folio of the page specified in which in the paper the detailed report of the race may be found. In the List of Stallions is given the name, color, pedigree, owner or agent's address, and terms, of all the distinguished Stallions in the Union, the whole comprising a mass of intelligence to be found in no other publication in this country, and which combines every leading feature embraced by the Stud Book, the Turf Register, and the Racing Calendar.

The Sporting Department of the new volume of the Spirit of the Times, (which commenced on the 18th Feb. last), will be made more interesting and valuable than ever. To this end it will present a complete AMERICAN RACING CALENDAR, compiled with the utmost accuracy. The Races over the principal Courses in the Union will be reported by our Special Correspondents at the earliest day, and we shall rely upon the courtesy of the Secretaries of Clubs, and sporting friends generally, to furnish us with reports of other meetings. The ENGLISH TURF will also claim our attention, and everything relating to it will be carefully culled from the British Sporting Magazines and papers, likely to contribute to the interest or information of the American Breeder and Turfman. Trotting Matches—Sales and Importations of Blood Stock at home and abroad—American and English Winning Horses—Reviews of Stallions—Pedigrees and Performances of Distinguished Horses—Essays on Breeding, Training, and racing—Challenges—Field Sports of all descriptions—On Dits in Sporting Circles, etc. etc., all come within the scope of our design, and we shall bend every faculty to meet the expectations of those partial friends who desire that THE SPIRIT OF THE TIMES shall be acknowledged as the most authentic, comprehensive, original, and attractive SPORTING CHRONICLE that issues from the press. So far as SPORTING INTELLIGENCE is concerned, the Editor has no hesitation in promising it to his readers earlier, and in a greater variety, than can be procured through any other channel whatever. In addition to a wider and more intelligent circle of private correspondents than any weekly journal in the whole range of the newspaper press, Two Special Correspondents in the remote sections of the Union are constantly and exclusively engaged in furnishing for the Spirit of the Times the Sporting Intelligence and current On Dits of the day. The Editor is also in the regular receipt, by the English packet ships, of every Sporting Magazine and Paper published in Great Britain, in addition to a great variety of literary periodicals.

LITERARY DEPARTMENT.—Although the leading objects of our paper are of a sporting cast, The Spirit of the Times will embody a complete synopsis of the Literary Intelligence of the day. Reviews of all New Works of general interest, with extracts from the most inviting, will be laid before our readers at the earliest hour, while the great extent of our columns will enable us to devote a large space to Tales, Sketches, Poetry, etc., original and selected. From those of native growth, and the most sterling and eminent European Magazines, we shall cull the choicest flowers of Literature, Wit, and Sentiment, to an amount hitherto unprecedented, and entirely beyond the scope of the ordinary periodical press.

THEATRICAL DEPARTMENT.—The interests of the American and English Stage are so closely and inseparably connected that we shall, as heretofore take cognizance of both. As an object of lively interest, The Drama demands our best efforts and will continue to be a prominent feature in this paper. The Spirit of the Times finds its way into every Green Room in the Union, and has so many correspondents among the profession, as to have acquired a character for authentic, exclusive, and early Green Room Intelligence, not exceeded by any journal whatever.

SALMAGUNDI—SAYINGS AND DOINGS ABOUT TOWN.—This has been an original, and will continue to be a leading feature in the design of the Spirit of the Times. Under appropriate devices will be found the Quips and Quirks of the thousand and one Wags about Town, with the last "good thing" of "Figaro," and "Bob Short," together with a dashing Salmagundi of the liveliest sallies of the entire editorial corps—each spiced and peppered to the taste of the mirth-loving votaries of the Fun, Frolic, Flash, and Fashion of Old Gotham! Facts, Scraps, and Oddities, and other Gleanings by the Way-side, with the latest On Dits, Scan. Mag., and Doings in the Fashionable Circles, will always be carefully collated for the peculiar benefit and behoof of the general reader, who may rely upon our faithfully executing Dogberry's facetious "charge"—"to comprehend all vagrom men!"

Such are the more prominent features of the plan of the Spirit of the Times, varied as they are by the Current News of the day, Foreign and Domestic, and the thousands of subjects within the scope of a metropolitan journal of the largest class. Gentlemen eminent for their talent and standing in society, throughout the country, have contributed to its success, not more by enrolling themselves among its firm friends than by enriching its pages with their communications. The Editor is not at liberty to name his contributors, but is warranted in stating frankly that they comprise a great majority of the leading Breeders and Turfmen in the United States. He has also regular correspondents in most of the large cities and towns of the Union, and is also indebted to many American gentlemen abroad for their kindness in forwarding him the earliest Sporting and Green Room Intelligence.

LOCAL AGENTS.—As no individuals are authorized as local agents, to receive moneys and give receipts therefor, on account of the N. Y. Spirit of the Times, any gentleman wishing to subscribe, may do so without expense, by paying his subscription to his resident Postmaster, whose receipt alone will be acknowledged. In such case, a receipt will be directed to the Postmaster, and the paper immediately forwarded to the address ordered by him.

BACK NUMBERS.—Having printed an extra number of copies for that purpose, Gentlemen desirous of preserving the integrity of their volumes can be furnished with the several numbers from the beginning of the new volume, on expressing such a wish.

Terms of Subscription and Advertising.
